EXPECT SENATE TO O. K. GUARD MOBILIZATION

Leaders See Passage of Bill By Tonight; Argument on Draft Grows Heated.

HULL ASKS 'SERVICE'

New Dealers Call Lindbergh Chief of U. S. Fifth Columnists.

BULLETIN

WASHINGTON —(U.P.)— The house military affairs committee after a heated session today voted 11 to 10 against hearing further witnesses on the conscription bill.

(By United Press)

WASHINGTON — The senate was expected to give quick approval today to a bill empowering President Roosevelt to mobilize the national guard and the military reserves for extended training probably for one year.

The senate meets to act on this national defense measure as the debate on conscription grew more intense. Majority Leader Alben W. Barkley said he saw no reason why the mobilization bill couldn't be passed by night. There was a possibility of it being approved without a record vote. It would mobilize for intensive training some 360,000 men.

The senate military affairs committee had approved the modified Burke-Wadsworth conscription bill, 13 to 3. It would make 12,000,000 men between 21 and 31 subject to draft.

Gen. George C. Marshall, army chief of staff, in a radio address last night, criticized congressional delays on both measures and said further postponement "might seriously jeopardize" defense preparations.

Dissenting members of the military affairs committee filed minority report advocating voluntary enlistment.

"After a thorough and fair trial, if the voluntary enlistment plan fails in part or in whole, then before it is too late the minority gladly will support conscription, but not before," the report said.

Foes of the draft, including the entire isolationist bloc, were concentrating their efforts to force a trial of voluntary enlistment, indicating their willingness to admit the need of conscription if it failed.

The senate begins debating the conscription bill tomorrow.

The house military affairs committee meets today to act on the mobilization bill and to begin considering the conscription bill.

Storm Stalls Heat Wave's Return; 5 More Ohioans Die

Ohio opened her parched throat today to drink in long delayed rains general over the state and which stopped, for the time being, the beginning of another 90-degree heat wave.

Mansfield's 90-degree temperature ended yesterday afternoon when the rain came. The mercury went down to 68 during the night. More than a half inch of rain fell during the night and this morning. Lower temperature prevailed this morning with the mercury standing at 80 at noon.

The forecast of fair and cooler tonight and fair tomorrow indicated a further delay in the second heat wave which weathermen say is in store for Ohio.

Yesterday's heat sent thermometers up to 97 at Circleville and 96 at Wilmington, and brought death to five Ohioans. Two boys, Ferris Gardner, jr., and Robert Simms, S, were drowned when they waded into a gravel pit near Columbus, and Byron Hall, 13, drowned in a Dayton municipal swimming pool.

BLOCK RAID

Germans Say Anti-Aircraft Guns Drive Off British Craft.

HAMBURG—(AP Via Radio)—German anti-aircraft fire drove off a large number of British night air raiders attempting to attack this port before dawn, the German radio reported today.

Only a few planes, flying at great altitude, crossed the city, it said, and their bombs did no serious damage.

SPORTSMAN DEAD

COLUMBUS—(AP)—A heart attack last night killed Fuller Hass, 65, of Washington Court House, trap shooter and harness racing enthusiast.

45 Boys Waiting Starter's Flag At Tomorrow's Soap Box Derby

First Heat To Be Run At 2:30

Special Buses Will Take Spectators to Derby Course on Route 42.

Forty-five eager and confident boys from Mansfield and the vicinity today awaited impatiently for the starting hour of the fourth annual running of the Mansfield Soap Box derby.

The race, over a new course on Route 42 east of Mansfield, will start at 2:30 p. m. tomorrow, and the youthful contestants were busy making last-minute checks and adjustments on their homemade racing cars today.

In store for the victor tomorrow is an all-expense trip to Akron Saturday and Sunday and a chance to compete for the national Derby championship over the famous Derby Downs course there Sunday.

Each of the 45 boys whose cars were approved at weighing-in and inspection yesterday was confident today that he would be returned the winner when the final finish line flag has been waved down at the end of the Derby course.

Don Cram, Derby director, predicted that a new Mansfield Derby record would be set tomorrow, since every car is new and carefully checked.

There was also a likelihood of a record crowd of spectators, with special transportation arranged by the Greyhound Bus lines from Central park to the course.

Last details of the event were being worked out today by the sponsors of the race—The Mansfield News-Journal, Mohican Chevrolet company, and the Y. M. C. A.

Cars that needed adjustment or changes to make them eligible were returned to their owners today, and all cars will be hauled to the Derby course tomorrow morning.

This year, only two cars will run in each heat, instead of three as in past years. The race will

DESTROYS BARN

Blaze Caused by Combustion Levels Farm Building.

Fire destroyed a large barn on the Anthony Kohler farm two miles northeast of Galion yesterday afternoon while the Galion fire department prevented the flames from spreading to the farm home and other buildings nearby.

Discovered shortly after 2 p. m. by members of the Kohler family, the blaze swept through the frame structure before help could be summoned. Firemen said spontaneous combustion probably caused the blaze. The barn contained a large amount of new hay.

There was no livestock or machinery in the structure. An estimate of the loss was no available. The Kohler farm is located on the Long road between Galion and Crestline and east of the Olentangy river.

26 EXPELLED

Men to Lose Jobs Because of Communist Affiliation.

NEW YORK—The Bronx local of the Building Service Employes Union today ordered the expulsion of 26 alleged Communists after a secret trial featured by testimony revealing "boring-in" tactics of those found guilty of Communistic affiliation.

Local President Thomas Lewis announced that the men will lose their jobs at once.

ARREST SECRET

Former Premier Reported Taken Into Custody At Rangoon.

BOMBAY, India—(AP)—Former Premier Ba Maw of Burma has been arrested in Rangoon, says a dispatch from that city. The reason was not stated. The former premier recently was named "dictator" of the so-called Burma Freedom bloc in Mandalay.

Getting Racers Ready For Fourth Annual Soap Box Derby

With the fourth annual running of the Mansfield Soap Box Derby scheduled for tomorrow, inspection of cars yesterday was one of the major steps in preparation for the classic. At top left, Loren Wiley, 1939 winner, looks over one of the entries. Because he won last year, Loren is not eligible to compete in this year's race. Top right, Robert Powell, of Toledo Scales company, (right) weighs in the entry of Howard Todd, 13, 357 Marion avenue (left). Lower left shows the Derby course, on a steady grade on Route 42, just east of the old road which went through Windsor. Lower right, John Uzonoff, 37, Lily street, looks on as Don Cram, Derby director, checks over his car. The winner of the Mansfield race will be given a two-day all-expense trip to the national finals in Akron Sunday, and if he wins there, will receive a four-year scholarship to any college he selects.

BURGLAR HUNT FUND REJECTED

Council Committee Turns Down Police Plea While 2 More Lootings Are Reported.

While city council's finance committee was deciding last night to turn down the request of Mayor W. J. Locke and Police Chief M. K. Bates for two detectives to investigate a wave of house burglaries, two more burglaries were reported to police.

Police records showed today that there have been more than 30 burglary reports made to the department since July 1.

The finance committee met last night and considered the request of city officials for funds to hire two additional detectives, for three months, so that officers would not have to be taken off of traffic duty to aid in the investigations. Fred Miller, chairman of the committee, said today the committee de-

Meet Death As Cars Collide Head-On Near Canton.

CANTON —(NS)— The head-on collision of two automobiles on state route 43 near Canton today cost two lives and seriously threatened another.

Instantly killed in the crash were Henry Leiburg, 41, of Canton, and his sister, Mrs. Elizabeth Pickens, 38, of Canton, mother of 15-year-old Ruth Pickens, driver of the car in which they were riding.

Doodlebug Conductor Admits Order To Take Siding Ignored

(By Associated Press)

AKRON—One of the surviving crewmen of the Pennsylvania railroad "Doodlebug" wreck declared today the crew had "clear" orders to sidetrack their gasoline-propelled coach a mile back of the wreck scene.

Writhing with pain, Conductor H. B. Shafer told his story briefly to Coroner R. E. Amos. He offered no explanation why Engineman Thomas L. Murtaugh failed to take the sidetrack to allow passage of a freight train with which the "Doodlebug" crashed head-on, killing 43.

Shafer said the Hudson-Akron shuttle coach probably was going between 50 and 55 miles an hour, "the usual speed," as it neared the freight train.

Asked by Coroner Amos whether the collision could have been avoided if the railroad had had an attended "block" in the Cuyahoga Falls district where the crash took place Wednesday night, Shafer responded:

"Oh, absolutely. There's no question about it."

A Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen leader had declared previously that the accident could have been averted if an operator had been on duty at the signal block. The railroad said the block was not regularly attended, and this meant only that crewmen without "through" orders had to halt and telephone for fresh instructions. The railroad said the crew of the "Doodlebug" disregarded standing orders in enter-

VOTE ON GAS RATE

COLUMBUS — (AP) — Columbus citizens will vote Nov. 5 on a proposed ordinance providing an average 58.69-cent gas rate. The measure, submitted to voters by the city council, is similar to one barred from the May 14 primary ballot by a court order.

STILL NO CHARGE

Crawford Officials Continue To Study Officer's Death.

BUCYRUS — Crawford county authorities delayed the filing of a charge against John E. Smith, 26, Galion truck driver, while they awaited a final report of Coroner O. R. Kackley of an investigation of the death of Patrolman Clarence H. Upson, 71, of Galion Saturday afternoon.

Smith, who admitted he slugged the veteran Galion patrolman with his fist during an argument Saturday, is being held in the Crawford county jail under an open charge.

Sheriff A. H. French of Crawford county said today that a formal charge probably will be filed against Smith Wednesday morning if the coroner's report is ready by then.

Authorities said there was still a question of whether a blow in the temple killed Patrolman Upson or his death resulted from a bump he received on his head when he fell to the sidewalk. In a preliminary report, the coroner said a concussion resulting from a blow on the forehead caused Upson's death.

Report Tightening of Regulations On Lake Navigation Data.

CLEVELAND — (AP) — Regulations governing information on movements of Great Lakes freight vessels have been tightened "in co-operation with the government," President Chester W. Willett of the Great Lakes Towing Co said today. The harbor-towing concern that operates in 17 Great Lakes ports "is refusing to give out information of that kind promiscuously," Willett asserted. He added that port lists would be available to newspapers as usual.

MOLESTER GETS SPEEDY JUSTICE

It required less than an hour yesterday afternoon for county authorities to take a 56-year-old accused Mansfield child molester into custody, obtain a confession from him, and sentence him to a year in the Columbus workhouse.

He was taken to the workhouse this morning. Arrested when he quit work about 3 p. m., Arthur Warner, Trailer city, was questioned by Prosecutor G. W. Marriott, and then was taken before Probate Judge C. J. Anderson who sentenced him on a charge of contributing to the delinquency of minors.

Warner, a draftsman for a Mansfield industrial firm, admitted luring at least 14 boys from nine to 16 years old into his car in recent weeks and taking them to his trailer.

Six of the youths who were questioned by authorities said

FRIEND OF REDS REPORTED SHOT

Moscow Hears International Brigade Member Slayer.

MOSCOW (AP) The slaying in Helsinki of a member of the "Society for friendship and peace with the U. S. S. R." was reported today by Tass, the Soviet news agency, in a dispatch from the Finnish capital.

The dispatch said the advocate of closer relations with Moscow was shot and mortally wounded in a public meeting by a "Canadian volunteer," that is, by one of the Canadians who joined the Finnish international brigade during the Russo-Finnish war.

WARNING ISSUED

Officials Fear Epidemic of Infantile Paralysis.

PORTSMOUTH, O. — (AP) — The Portsmouth board of health voted today that children under 16 should be kept from public gatherings to prevent spread of an epidemic of infantile paralysis. Dr. Louis Berndt, health commissioner, reported to the board that eight cases have been placed under quarantine in 10 days.

Tells Election Board To Get Set For Draft Registration

The Richland county election board had been advised today by Secretary of State George Nettner to get ready to register men for army service if the draft bill passes.

"It is a practical certainty that the election machinery of Ohio will be used in the contemplated registration, and the election board may have to designate at least two registrars for each precinct," Nettner said in his letter.

The registrars and their assistants would serve without pay, since the government registration system provides no funds for that purpose. Mansfield and Richland county would require 182 registrars.

Nettner said however, that he was "sure men and women best qualified in each precinct to do the work will cheerfully and patriotically welcome the opportunity to render service."

Election officials here said they would take no steps to set up the registration machinery until the draft bill is passed, if it is, and the secretary of state gives more detailed instructions about the plan.

Britain on Her Toes Expecting Huge Air Raids

Reconnaissance Flights Reveal Barges Ready to Transport Troops From Channel Ports; More Trouble Brews for British in East

(By International News Service)

Great Britain is on her toes, expects anything to happen and is doing her best to find out what that "anything" will be and when it will explode.

That conclusion was inescapable today as cables crackled across the Atlantic, telling of the usual German air raids and—more significant—of apparently widespread British reconnaissance and intelligence service efforts to find out exactly what the Nazis are doing.

While concrete developments seemed few and far between, tension appeared to be rising, just as the atmosphere seems charged before a heavy thunder storm breaks loose.

From London came reports of German air raids during the night and this morning, in which bombs were dropped on southeastern England and northeastern coastal regions were attacked.

A British communique indicated that no serious damages or casualties had resulted. In addition, it was announced that a German raider was shot down off the east coast this morning and that a total of four German planes were destroyed in engagements over the English channel yesterday.

Informed British sources, basing their opinion on analysis of latest British reconnaissance findings, said that while German preparations for an attempted invasion of the British Isles are well advanced, they probably will not be complete for another two weeks.

These same quarters admitted, however, that a major Nazi aerial assault against the British Isles might start at any moment as a preliminary to actual invasion. Furthermore, they pointed out, Germany's present activity in the air might be a feint to cover some move elsewhere—perhaps in the Near East.

Royal Air Force officers were reported looking for major air attacks, with 500 Nazi planes participating in each raid, before the present fine weather ends. They thought that the German air force may seek to engage the R. A. F. in a "big way" and await the results of these attacks before Chancellor Hitler orders an actual invasion attempt.

Other findings indicated that the invasion attempt is more than a possibility. German forces on the shores of the Baltic are reported practicing debarkation of troops, horses and mechanized equipment from barges and flat-bottom boats. British reconnaissance flights have revealed huge concentrations of barges—ready to move against England—in Belgian, Dutch and northern French canals.

Trouble also brewed for England in the Far East, where the controversy with Japan over mutual arrests of British and Japanese citizens showed few signs of dying down, despite release of one arrested Japanese, Satoru Makihara, from Brixton prison.

With eight other Japanese and at least seven Britons still in custody in various parts of the British empire and Japan, Nipponese newspapers remained antagonistic

SECRET: Nazis Prepare New Weapons For Island Attack

EDITOR'S NOTE: Preston Grover of the Associated Press Berlin staff is with a party of foreign correspondents being taken by the Germans on a tour of some sections of German-occupied Belgium and France. The following dispatch was written Aug. 3 in Brussels, sent by courier to Berlin and held there until released today.)

By PRESTON GROVER

BRUSSELS (Via Courier to Berlin) — (AP) — Secret weapons and new methods of modern warfare, some perhaps never tried before and one used only once in the lightning capture of a Belgian fort, are ready for use against Britain, Field Marshal General Albert Kesselring told the foreign press today.

His statement was a renewal of the oft-repeated story that Germany is about to spring on her foes strange new devices developed behind the wall of Nazi military secrecy.

What the weapons are, or whether they represent only a new use of old weapons, General Kesselring, commander of the German air force opposite England, would not say.

He declared, however, that one surprise weapon, to his knowledge, was perfected and used against the Eben Emael fortress in the Liege citadel and there only.

"A new weapon cannot be used often," he added, "else it will be copied by the enemy and used against you."

(Eben Emael, 12 miles north of Liege and one of the strongest forts of the Albert canal line, was reported taken by the Germans May 10 "within a few minutes" by a small detachment of Nazis using a "secret" weapon. Guesses on both sides of the Atlantic about that weapon ranged from a new type gun to a paralyzing nerve gas.)

Kesselring, who learned to fly at 19 and now at 55 awaits the word to strike as the man in whose hands may be the success or failure

FAMINE: Ambassador Says Europe Faces Winter Of Want

(By International News Service)

LONDON—There are no words in the English language to describe the horror and suffering from famine that will descend upon Belgium and perhaps the remainder of Europe this winter, John D. Cudahy, United States ambassador to Belgium before the German occupation declared today.

"If you think Europe is a howling hell right now," he said in the course of a press conference, "it will tax the English language to describe this coming winter."

Ambassador Cudahy said he considered it his duty to present the entire case to President Roosevelt at Washington.

"I cannot see eight millions of people starving," he said.

"But at the same time I am bound to tell the president that is the only power in Europe today."

Cudahy pointed out the inherent difficulties involved in shipping food from abroad to the aid of impoverished Belgium. It is obvious, he said, that England is not going to permit such shipments, since Germany is unable to give a categorical promise that the supplies will not be used for military needs.

Would Organize Bureau to Expose Fifth Columnists

DEPARTMENT OF JUSTICE WEIGHS PLAN

Nazis, Fascists Reported to Be Increasing Number Of Agents In U. S.

(By International News Service)

WASHINGTON—Creation of a government bureau to analyze foreign propaganda and publicly expose its origin and its financing, was under consideration by the justice department today.

The plan was proposed before a secret espionage section-meeting of the federal-state conference on law enforcement problems of national defense, by Assistant Attorney General John O. Rogge. Attorney General Robert H. Jackson expressed the belief that no legislation would be necessary to establish such a bureau but said it would take money. Reaction to the plan was reported favorable among the delegates.

Work at the federal state conference symbolized a comprehensive program to stamp out all subversive activities in the United States, prevent sabotage and bulwark the entire nation's economic and social structure against enemies from within. It came as the house considered specific legislation backing up the program—a bill to permit the federal bureau of investigation to tap telephone wires in counter-espionage investigations.

Rep. Celler (D) N. Y., author of the bill, believes the measure will pass congress, especially after President Roosevelt's message to the conference calling for an integrated federal and state legal drive against all "fifth column" activities. Politics, prejudice and emotion must be laid aside in a unified national effort to this end, the president said.

A report by the interstate commission on crime, charging that Nazi and Fascist agents were sending letters and telegrams to members of congress to create the belief their views represented public sentiment, was circulated among the delegates. Suggesting a number of remedies to counter foreign propaganda, the commission asserted that German consular and diplomatic stations in the United States have doubled their personnel, and asked whether this should be investigated.

"In the United States," the report said, "official German staffs have recently been greatly enlarged until sometimes there will be 40 or more Nazis in a mere consulate, as there are now in Boston and San Francisco; the Boston consulate having previously had but a handful.

"Nazi business firms in Holland, Belgium and other European countries were the conduits of the funds for the 'fifth column' activities in which they were located. In the United States, a number of prominent Nazi firms have recently greatly increased their staffs, in spite of the reduction in their legitimate business. . . "

The commission asserted that espionage, sabotage and propaganda were much more important problems today than in the last war "because the Nazis have developed them into much more effective weapons both for war and prewar purposes."

Official Declares Vermilion Beach Should Be Closed

COLUMBUS—(INS)—Closing of the bathing beach at Vermilion, on Lake Erie, because of unsanitary conditions was recommended today by State Health Director R. H. Markwith to Lorain county officials.

Failing in this, Dr. Markwith declared, the county health department should "at least post signs warning swimmers that the water there is unsafe and decidedly unhealthful."

Meanwhile, the controversy over sewage disposal facilities at the resort village continued. The clay soil has been found too hard to absorb the waste from individual sewage systems, and the waste seeps back to the surface.

A centralized approved system cannot be installed, Dr. Markwith said, until a landowner's suit attacking the incorporation of the village in the county common pleas court is settled.

FUNERAL SET

Services for Bertie Stevick to Be Held Tomorrow.

Funeral services for Bertie Owen Stevick, 56, lifelong resident of Mansfield and vicinity, who died Sunday at the home of his sister, Mrs. Benjamin Banks, near Lucas, will be held at 1:30 p. m. Wednesday at the Wappner funeral home with Rev. Paul Saleste, pastor of St. John's Evangelical church, officiating. Burial will be in Bellville cemetery.

Farmers Get 73 Cents for Big Wheat Crop

PRICE 10 CENTS AHEAD OF THAT PAID YEAR AGO

Grain of Best Quality During Recent Years, Crop to Average 20 Bushels to Acre.

Now at the peak of threshing operations, Richland county farmers are pouring thousands of bushels of wheat into county elevators at 10 cents a bushel more than they received at the same time last year.

The price is 73 cents a bushel, a gain of three cents in the past week. The higher price may be due to the European war, a short crop in the west, or generally improved farm prices, but farmers have a good reason to be happy anyway.

This year's crop is the best quality on record and the county's yield per acre probably will be boosted this year to well over 20 bushels, Mansfield millers said.

J. O. Hanley of the Hanley mills said some fields were producing as high as 42 bushels per acre and he had not heard of a yield of less than 25 bushels. The county's average yield over a period of years is from 15 to 18 bushels per acre.

Some of the grain weighs as much as 62½ pounds per bushel, an unusually good quality. The hot weather and lack of rain have kept the moisture content down to 12 and 13 per cent.

Thresh Two More Weeks.

Threshing is expected to continue for two more weeks in the northern part of the county, about three weeks later than usual. Most of the threshing has been done in the southern tier of townships.

Harvesting of the oats crop, also said to be one of the best in the county in recent years, will begin within the next week, farmers said. The oats straw is heavy and the grain has ripened well, they added.

Grain dealers pointed out that a strip across northcentral Ohio, including Richland county, is producing the state's best wheat this year. Grain in other parts of the state, notably in the southern and western counties, contains more moisture and some of it was damaged by too much rainfall early in the summer, millers said.

Up and Down the Street

Mansfield Boy Scouts today were proudly displaying at their headquarters in the Elks building, a large picture of the pioneer hero, Bill Cody, better known as Buffalo Bill. The picture of Cody, also known as the "Great American Scout," was presented to the Johnny Appleseed area by Dr. J. H. Nichols of Mansfield.

It rained torrents last night while members of the Hermit club were on their picnic at Spiker's grove near Alta, so the entire group crowded under a small shelter house for a steak fry. From a count of the steaks left over, officers of the club figured there were 25 men pinned into the shelter, but they didn't say what would happen to their count if two or three of the fellows were hungrier than the others and had two steaks.

They're trying to teach "Tailwind," Mansfield airport's canine mascot, some new tricks these days. The brown and white terrier which is among the first to run to the field to greet incoming fliers, is being trained to haul in the chuckers after planes leave their mooring places. Tailwind just blew into the airport several weeks ago and has stayed there since.

There was a Mansfield reunion in New York City last week when a group of people from here had dinner together. In the party were Jane and Jack Wilson, Arnold Lehnhart, Miss Florence MacDonald and Miss Helen Bein. The two last named are visiting in New York, while the other three live there and are following musical careers. After dinner they all attended the Fred Waring broadcast and show at the Vanderbilt theater, in which Jane Wilson takes a leading part. The group autographed a folder from the Waring show and sent it to a Mansfield friend. Miss MacDonald is expected home within a few days and Miss Bein went on to Canada before returning home.

ILLNESS FATAL

Mrs. Glenna M. Foote Formerly Lived In Fredericktown.

FREDERICKTOWN — Mrs. Glenna M. Foote, 59, wife of Herbert W. Foote, and former Fredericktown resident, died Monday evening at her home in Mt. Vernon as result of a heart attack.

Mrs. Foote was born near Fredericktown and lived in this vicinity a number of years before moving to Mt. Vernon. Surviving besides her husband are two daughters, Mrs. Maurine Secrist of Mitchell, Ind., and Mrs. Miriam Grubb of Mt. Vernon; her father, W. A. TROPIC STORM LASHES GULF

Greek Steamer Sends SOS as Hurricane Sweeps Along Louisiana Coast.

NEW ORLEANS, LA.—(INS)—A tropical storm, blasting a path through the Gulf of Mexico, came within a few miles southwest of Burwood, La., this morning, sweeping parallel to the coast line and westward. A U. S. weather bureau advisor said the disturbance was attended by winds of 50 to 60 miles per hour velocity at the center, and was advancing "west northwestward."

Smashing inward from the middle of the storm, high winds raked through the coastal cities. Damage was undetermined as work of cleaning up debris began.

Tides at the mouth of the Mississippi river were unusually high, the weather bureau reported, and harbor officials said shipping was hamstrung.

NEW YORK—(INS)—The United States coast guard cutter Tampa today was reported rushing to aid the Greek steamer Oropios, which sent out an SOS after being caught in a hurricane in the gulf of Mexico. The Greek ship gave her position as about 350 miles south of New Orleans. The Oropios is a 3,475-ton steamer.

RESCUED FROM MOUNTAIN LEDGE

Young Woman Lies Injured on Cliff For Nearly 24 Hours.

GLACIER RANGER STATION, Wash.—(AP)—Anne Cedarquist, 22-year-old Shelton, Wash., mountain climber, was carried to civilization today after her rescue from a narrow ledge 8,000 feet up the precipitous slope of Mount Shuksan, where she lay injured nearly 24 hours.

The young woman, a chemist, was taken by ambulance to Bellingham after rescue parties numbering 21 men brought her by stretcher down a forest service road.

The lense night on the icy, 9,000-foot peak was described by her companion, Faye Plank, 35, Bremerton high school teacher, who kept vigil 100 feet above Miss Cedarquist, linked to her by a rope, while a third member of the party went for help.

Clifford S. Lee Was Native of Union Springs, Ala.

Clifford S. Lee, 35, of 13 Herman avenue, died Monday evening at Avalon sanatorium in Mt. Vernon.

Born in Union Springs, Ala., Mr. Lee had lived in Mansfield for 12 years. He is survived by his widow, Anna Mae, an uncle, James Lawson of Mansfield, and several brothers and sisters in Alabama.

The body was removed to the Geiger funeral home here pending funeral arrangements.

MANSFIELD KEEPS 20TH PLACE IN OHIO'S 'LARGER CITY' RANKS

Mansfield, one of the few larger cities in Ohio which showed a sizeable population gain during the past decade failed to do more than retain its standing in 20th place among Ohio's cities, a check of the preliminary census figures revealed today.

Ranking sixth in population gains during the 10-year period between 1930 and 1940, Mansfield with a preliminary count of 37,024 showed an increase in population of 3,499 persons, edging to within 385 of Steubenville which is the state's 19th city and led Mansfield by nearly 1,900 in 1920. Population of the river city at that time was 35,422 as against Mansfield's 33,525. The 1940 count in Steubenville was 37,409.

The state's 40 largest cities have more than half of the population, but they account for only a net gain of 10,000 in the period between 1930 and 1940 while the state-wide population gain is estimated to exceed 200,000.

The depression and industrial decentralization during the 1930's were given as the reasons for the population decline in a number of cities. The drop was greatest in the industrial regions of northern Ohio. Akron lost 11,910 while Cleveland dropped 22,044, and Toledo, 9,622.

Virtually all of the central and southern Ohio cities showed gains, with Columbus heading the list with an increase of 14,408. The Columbus gain placed the city in third place in Ohio ahead of Toledo. Population of Columbus was listed at 301,972 as compared to 281,096 for Toledo. Cleveland is first and Cincinnati second.

Lima jumped from 15th to 13th place with a population of 44,764. Portsmouth slid from 14th to 16th place. Lorain slipped from 13th to 14th while Warren stepped up from 16th to 15th place.

N. C. REED DIES

Crestline Resident Succumbs After Heart Attack.

CRESTLINE—A heart attack suffered while sleeping, caused the death early today of Ned Cober Reed, 46, of 623 West Bucyrus street, an employe of the state highway department.

Mr. Reed was found dead in bed at 8 a. m. today by his mother, with whom he lived, when she went to his room after he failed to get up to go to work. A physician who was summoned said death was due to a heart attack. Mr. Reed had been ill for over two years with a heart ailment.

Born Oct. 27, 1893 in Crestline, he spent his entire life here. For the past seven years he had been employed with the state highway department and recently was time keeper for the new overpass project at the edge of town. At night he was employed at projectionist at the Hippodrome theater here.

Surviving are his widow, Dana Roth Reed, his parents, Mr. and Mrs. James G. Reed, a daughter, Ann Shirley, and a sister, Mrs. C. A. Stephan of Crestline. The body was removed to the Garverick funeral home pending funeral arrangements.

DIES AT AGE 74

Mrs. Martha Phillips Page, 74, Of Near Butler, Succumbs.

Mrs. Page was born Dec. 3, 1865. She is survived by her husband, George B. Page; four sons, Charles C. of Akron, Walter of Fredericktown, and Lester and Cecil of Butler; three daughters, Mrs. Bessie Gerhart, Mrs. Lillian Wheatcraft and Mrs. Marie Ball, all of Butler; two brothers, J. W. Phillips of Oroville, Calif., and Jaala Phillips of Fredericktown, 28 grandchildren and nine great grandchildren.

Funeral services will be held at 2 p. m. Thursday at the North Liberty Methodist church with Rev. Avery Butler officiating. Burial will be in Pike cemetery south of North Liberty.

JUDGE GRANTS FUND TRANSFER

Bloominggrove Trustees Get O.K. On Financial Transaction.

Bloominggrove township trustees today asked Common Pleas Judge C. H. Huston for authority to transfer $600 from their road and bridge fund to the general and cemetery funds.

In their petition, the trustees pointed out that $200 of the money they want transferred was not appropriated at the beginning of the year, but it actually belongs in the general fund.

The remaining $400, they said, will be used to pay for a cemetery property they purchased several months ago. The transfer has already been approved by the state tax commission.

A daughter, born to Mr. and Mrs. Harold Hursh, 213 Linden road, at General hospital Monday afternoon.

A son, born to Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hershey, Lexington, at General hospital this morning.

The Voice of BROADWAY

—By DOROTHY KILGALLEN

Miss Midnight's Diary.

Dear Diary: Okay, it was a hot week, why talk about it? Those news photographers who are always taking pictures of crowds escaping the heat on the beach at Coney Island should have come around and snapped the Broadwayites escaping ditto in the bistros.

Leon and Eddie's would have made a good shot on Sunday night, with all the celebrated characters lying around in costumes that would make a Harper's Bazaar editor run like a frightened deer, and in situations that would make Faith Baldwin race for a typewriter.

Situation No. 1 was the old Fame Is Fleeting job. There, on one hand, wearing brown slacks and bedroom slippers (yes, Lucius, we might as well face it, bedroom slippers) was George Raft, signing autographs for every girl in the room, and baking under the warm glances of the admiring belles. On the other hand was a big fellow, sad-looking and vaguely familiar, whom you recognized after a while as Carl Brisson.

Brisson, in Europe—the Europe before this year—was a bigger star than Maurice Chevalier; years ago, he was the idol to whom a young girl later called Greta Garbo used to send violets every week, violets paid for out of her small salary as a department store clerk.

Brisson sat in the noisy night club and seldom smiled, and no one stretched to look at him, and no one asked him to autograph a menu.

* * *

Situation No. 2 might have been called the Awkward Moment, except for a quick movement on the part of one of the principals.

It occurred when Benay Venuta, the torch singer, beautifully dressed and radiant, waltzed in with her happy bridegroom, Arnold Deutsch. She probably never found out that her entrance was the signal for a young man at the bar to pay his check in a rush and depart—for that young man was Dr. Kenneth Kelley, her former husband.

Situation No. 3 was the Cinderella Gag. Sitting at a table with Lyle Talbot (the unpaid Ted Peckham) was a girl who left Broadway a funny, but unbeautiful comedienne with long, straight hair done in any kind of bun. She went to Hollywood and met nice make-up man.

And there she sat in Leon and Eddie's, charming the playboy who's been charmed by experts, and her hair was bobbed and waved and her eyelashes were long and curled. There she was, Judy Canova, a glamor girl!

* * *

Paul Draper dropped in with Heidel Voessler long enough to do a dance for the cheering audience—a dance that was made remarkable by the fact that he did it in rubber-soled sneakers, slacks and a round-necked short-sleeved blue sweater, his costume for the rehearsal from which he had just come . . . George Raft also did a corny Charleston routine in his bedroom slippers, and Bert Wheeler retaliated by getting up and satirizing the same exhibition of terpischore—wearing no shoes at all! . . .

* * *

Joan Edwards, the little girl who used to sing with Paul Whiteman's orchestra, made her debut at the Cafe Pierre Tuesday night, before what is usually referred to as a glittering assemblage—a mixture of society, cafe society, Broadway, and Hollywood. The Francis Warren Pershings, those record-holding hand-holders, were on hand, holding hands, and getting tough competition in the happily-married-and-showing-it division from Irene Hervey and Allan Jones, also known as Mr. and Mrs. Jones.

Peggy Fears was lolling against the beige banquettes simply loaded with jewels; Xavier Cugat was in for a while playing hookey from the Waldorf; Paul Douglas engaged in serious conversation with Mary Dees, the girl who looks so much like Jean Harlow, and Mitzi Green looked as if she had spent the summer getting healthier than anybody. The Harry Richmans were all dressed up and looked very ever-lovin', and Ray Bolger clapped louder than anybody.

Paul Whiteman congratulated his protege and told her he was very proud of her, but Joan's big moment came when Arnold Reuben, the restaurant man, rushed over and told her:

"You were wonderful. I'm going to name a sandwich after you."

* * *

The chatter was bright, cheerful, and occasionally intellectual at the Algonquin's Rose Room at luncheon-time. The town's two Oscars—Serlin and Levant, chatted with Marc Connelly and Ursula Parrott as they all passed in the lobby, and the loungers ogled with fascinated orbs the big, bushy, black mustache that distinguished Konrad Bercovici. Edna Best looked charming and British, Carl Van Vechten looked thoughtful, and Jessie Ralph sat around looking just like a moving picture dowager, which came as no surprise.

Everybody strained to catch a Levant quip, but all that came forth was his remark to Frank Case as Olin Downes, the music critic, arrived.

"If he came to review my playing, he's going to be disappointed," said Oscar. "I want food—not fugue."

Hollywood Speaks---

—By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD—Well, there's nothing for it. I've got to write about Elsie. I've got to, because the way things are going Elsie is going to steal the picture. Jack Oakie and Kay Francis and the others won't have a chance in "Little Men."

I'll start off by saying Elsie is wonderful, beautiful, and good. She's also the most surprisingly agreeable guest of honor a Hollywood cocktail party ever had.

That's how I'll start off, taking it for granted that you know Elsie is a cow, American Jersey Cattle Club No. 998632 (real name You'll Do Lobelia). Her poise and serenity may be inherent, or may have been developed at the New York World's Fair. Believe me, she needs all the poise and serenity she can muster.

She needs it because the Messrs. Teague and Baker, her movie bosses will stop at nothing. They didn't hesitate to give her a cocktail party. They gave it at Cuos, a night spot with a mauve-and-blue decor, silky and satiny, reminiscent of boudoir scenes in romantic French novels.

Elsie arrived in her special truck, its sides modestly emblazoned with her name and the purpose of her visit to Hollywood (something, I hear, to do with a movie). She entered via the rear door to thwart autograph hunters no doubt, and took her stance in a square of prop grass enclosed in daisy-garlanded rope. Elsie was accompanied by her retinue. This includes her mentor, Mr. Boyce, who reared her from calfhood and trained her horns to symmetry. Also in attendance (for purposes apparently purely decorative) were two gingham milkmaids, Misses Pauline Easterday and Terry Shero, recruited through RKO's casting office and earning $11 a day as photographer-bait for Elsie.

As guests entered they were announced, in stentorian tones, by a dress-suited dignitary who turned out on investigation to be Hugh Harrison, actor. Simultaneously, the orchestra (which strangely neglected pastoral music throughout the afternoon) trilled a greeting and Elsie toodled her tongue around her copious cud.

* * *

Guests saw Elsie in her party clothes, and she was a bovine dream. She wore a daring ensemble with flowers, yards of purple and green tulle studded with sequins framing her face softly, she wore a throw-around robe of violet velvet, monogrammed in gold letters. Around her tail was a big junk satin bow, around her neck a garland of metal daisies, on her left front ankle a gold bracelet, with bells. Her shoes were white kid custom-made, and costing $50 a pair, or rather quartet. Costume-designer Eddie Stevenson could take a bow.

Elsie took her Hollywood as it came, unruffled. She never smiled, neither did he yawn, not even when Jack Oakie posed for pictures with the inevitable bucket. Elsie posed graciously with almost everybody, except Kay Francis, who arrived after Elsie had gone home.

Hermans Stop Rivals To Annex City Title

Score 10 Runs In Second Inning to Hand All-Stars Third Defeat In Softball Series.

The Hermans were challenged to a five-game series for the city softball championship by an All-Star squad selected by Mansfield fans from the Y. M. C. A. leagues.

Manager Frank Beeber's classy combine made a clean sweep of the series by winning the third game by a 12 to 4 count before nearly 2000 spectators at Liberty park yesterday.

Dale McKinley touted Alta Lumber hurler, who pitched a one-hit game Sunday against the Newark Independents, started on the hill for the Mansfield Wrecking Company All-Stars yesterday, but his teammates failed to give him any support and before Manager Nick Wagner could relieve him in the second inning the ball game was over.

* * *

In that frame the Hermans, after their 17th consecutive triumph, pushed 10 runs across the plate. The winners added single markers in the fourth and sixth innings of a tilt that was halted at the end of the seventh because of rain.

* * *

Yesterday's setto marked the first time the All-Stars defense has crumbled completely. In the opening game however, a misjudged fly gave the Hermans the victory.

Fans who witnessed the games are convinced that the Hermans possess a powerful attack and take advantage of every break.

After McKinley left the hill "Stub" Winebrenner of the Tinkey Lumbers took over the mound duties and held the Hermans to two runs the rest of the way.

The defeat yesterday was the first one in the series in which the All-Stars have not held an early lead.

While the Hermans were enjoying a field day the All-Stars were having trouble solving the slants of Jimmy Fullager when runners were on the bases.

Frank Balbaugh paced the Hermans' 12-hit attack with a double and two singles. Fullager added two doubles and Ed Henrich pounded out a home run and a single.

* * *

John Iallabrin and Garner Judy led the All-Stars at the plate with a home run apiece. Nick Weber, Al Stickler and Willard Lockhart contributed a double each to the All-Stars' total.

* * *

The collection taken up at the games will be used to pay for the trophy and a banquet for the players of both teams. The date of the dinner will be announced soon in The News-Journal.

St. John's Club Takes Lead

Tally 5 to 4 Victory Over First Congregationals.

Tallying a 5 to 4 victory over the First Congregationals last night, the St. Johns softball combination took over top position in the Y M C A Church league.

Augustine was on the mound for the Johnsmen with R. Heitz behind the plate. Larson and Bott were the First Congregational batters.

St. Johns scored once in the first frame and four times in the third for the five-run tally. The Congregationals tied it up in the third, and once in the fourth. The game was called at the end of the fifth inning, because of darkness.

In the other Church league contest last night, the First Presbyterian club walloped the First Methodists 9 to 2. Chapman was on the mound for the Methodists, while R Collins toed the rubber for the winners. Miller of the Presbys copped batting honors with a home run.

Braves Drop Tilt To Fostoria Team

SMARTING from the 12-inning 6 to 5 defeat handed out by the last-place Fostoria Red Birds at Fostoria last night, the Mansfield Braves came home today to meet the Red Birds under the floodlights at the Fairground at 8:30 p. m.

* * *

Tony Angaran is expected to get the call from Manager Dewey Stover to handle the mound duties as the Braves try to climb back to the .500 per cent mark in the Ohio State league standings.

* * *

Mansfield enjoyed an early lead last night, but the pitchers were unable to hold it. Everett Stenman started on the hill, but before the contest was over Tony Angaran and Drewek also saw service. Drewek was charged with the defeat.

The Braves were leading by a 4 to 0 count going into the last of the sixth and Fostoria pushed over three runs. The Red Birds knotted the score at 4-all with a marker in the eighth.

* * *

Pilot Stover's warriors forged ahead again in the 10th, with a single tally. Fostoria, determined to win the tussle tied the score in their half of the frame and went on to win with a marker in the 12th.

* * *

Walt Missler was the Braves' batting star, knocking out a double and two singles. Howard Beals, Gene Woodling and Harry Seigbert added two hits apiece to the attack.

Whitehead's Short No-Hitter Is Best

Silent John Blanks Detroit, 4 to 0; Wyatt Hurls Brooklyn to Victory Over Giants.

By JUDSON BAILEY, Associated Press Sports Writer.

LIKE decrepit fire horses answering the summons of a familiar bell, a quartet of the American league's tottering pitchers came charging onto the firing line yesterday with some of the season's best hurling, including an abbreviated no-hitter.

Silent John Whitehead, who hadn't won a game this season and was so ineffective the St. Louis Browns sent him to the minors for a spell, blanked the Detroit Tigers 4-0 without a hit in the second game of a doubleheader and knocked the Bengals out of first place.

Whitehead pitched only six innings, because rain halted the game, and his performance won't get his name on the no-hit Hall of Fame list that Cleveland's Bob Feller and Brooklyn's Tex Carleton made early this season.

* * *

But it was a noteworthy bit of workmanship from Whitey, who could win but one game all last year, and it kept up the Browns' favorite sideline of knocking off the pacemakers, previously this year they had bounced the Boston Red Sox and the Cleveland Indians out of first place.

* * *

Schoolboy Rowe, who also served a term in the minors with the grim prospect that he might not come back, pitched six-hit ball to give Detroit a 9-2 verdict in the first game.

Melvin LeRoy Harder, who has been so near the skids this year the fans in Cleveland had taken to booing him, pitched the Indians to a 10-1 triumph over the Chicago White Sox and back into the league lead by a scant percentage margin.

Another admirable comeback was the seven-hit 4 to 1 victory Fritz Ostermueller earned for the Red Sox over the New York Yankees. The little lefthander will be 33 years old next month.

He didn't give more than one hit in any inning and the only time he was scored upon was the eighth, when he walked two men ahead of a single by Joe DiMaggio.

Jimmie Foxx hit his 25th homer with one on to help out and Yankee Outfielder Tommy Henrich forgot how many were out in the fourth and intentionally dropped a fly trying for a double play with two already down.

* * *

* * *

This was the action in the National league yesterday and the first time the two teams ever had met at night.

DUCK HOLMES NAMED ACTING HEAD OF CLUB

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich.—(AP) Howard (Ducky) Holmes, a member of the Brooklyn Dodger organization for many years, has been named acting manager of the Grand Rapids club of the Michigan State Baseball League, a Brooklyn farm.

Holmes said he would remain in charge of the team until the status of Burleigh Grimes, former Brooklyn manager, is settled. Baseball Commissioner Kenesaw M. Landis has called a meeting Thursday of Michigan State League club heads in Chicago to air the suspension of Grimes as Grand Rapids manager following a dispute with an umpire.

Walker Marks 23rd Victory In Ring Fight

Columbus Boxer Impressive In Beating Whiters.

COLUMBUS—(AP)—Jack (Buddy) Walker, Columbus colored heavyweight commanded greater respect from fight followers today after his impressive 12-round decision over the highly-rated Johnny Whiters of Pontiac, Mich. last night.

* * *

Walker, giving his opponent a nine-pound advantage, proved to 6,123 fans that he deserved the widely-disputed decision he gained from Whiters in a 10-round battle July 17.

Whiters, tipping the scales at 200 pounds, went into the ring the favorite in the betting odds. His partisans were gleeful in the first three rounds as the Michigan negro pounded Walker into retreat with a steady stream of lefts to the face and drew blood from the Columbus lad's mouth.

Walker, after a slow start, finally found the range and piled up points by landing many solid blows. He showed greatest superiority in the eighth round, staggering Whiters with a series of hard lefts to the face.

* * *

Referee Arthur Donovan's card showed Walker with seven rounds, Whiters four and one even.

It was Walker's 23rd victory in 24 professional fights. The only mar on an otherwise all-victorious record was a draw with Patsy Perroni of Canton.

BIVINS WINS AGAIN

Indians Start Drive

Believe Pitching Will Give Them Pennant; Allen Faces Chicago.

* * *

That's the way the Cleveland baseball club looked at its pennant chances today after Mel Harder demonstrated again that top form comes to him late in the season.

* * *

Harder pitched the Tribe to a 10 to 1 victory yesterday checking the Chicago White Sox' upward climb and moving Cleveland into first place as the Detroit Tigers split a doubleheader with St. Louis. The Indians pounded Edgar Smith and Pete Appleton for 12 hits.

Pitching a full game for the first time this season, Harder held the White Sox to five hits and was deprived of a shutout by Mike Kreevich's homer.

The veteran right-hander's late mastery of mound technique bolstered the Indians' already strong pitching to the point where they figured this department could keep them in top position.

The gagging of Roy Weatherly with a $500 bonus offer didn't hurt the Tribe's pennant stock either. President Alva Bradley offered the fiery outfielder this sum if he would call off his feud with umpires.

* * *

Backtalk put him out of a game at Boston several weeks ago, and he has been threatened with indefinite suspension the next time he argues with an umpire. The Indians couldn't afford that—his .322 batting average leads the club.

* * *

Johnny Allen reverted to the role of starting pitcher as Cleveland and Chicago met in a doubleheader today. Al Milnar was named to share the mound work, and Lefty Lee and Bill Dietrich were the Sox' selections.

SPORTS PARADE

By HENRY McLEMORE

NEW YORK—(UP) It's a great temptation to pick Bob Pastor to beat Billy Conn next Tuesday night for no better reason than that Pastor is training for the fight in Stillman's gymnasium.

* * *

Right now, in the month of August, a searching party composed of Karl Baedeker, Rand McNally and Burton Holmes couldn't find a more unattractive spot, a more uncomfortable spot, than Stillman's gymnasium one flight up from Eighth avenue where it crosses 54th street.

* * *

If it's 90 on the street it's 100 in Stillman's. If it's crowded at the rush hour on Eighth avenue, it's much more crowded in Stillman's. I went there looking for Pastor yesterday, and after 20 minutes I was almost a pulmotor case. It was a shock, to a man accustomed to breathing air all his life, to step into the place and start breathing the combination of cigar and cigaret smoke, resin dust, and liniment fumes they use for air there. There are one or two small windows in the gymnasium but they are always completely filled by men wearing caps and talking out of the corners of their mouths.

Under the dim glow of electric lights that accentuate rather than dispel the gloom, little men big men, black men, yellow men, white men, and men with bashed noses disfigured ears, and men with vacant stares, skip rope, punch the bag, shadow box, spar with one another, snort and grunt and heave.

In and out among the fighters weave managers, trainers, gamblers, seconds and all of the strange assortment of characters who make up the fringe of boxing. In some 75 or 100 chairs sit shirt-sleeved, scating on-lookers, who pay twenty-five cents to be a part, for a time at least, of this pugilistic potpourri.

Pastor is training at Stillman's not because he can not afford a camp in the country, but because of superstition. He trained at Stillmans' for many of his early successful fights and feels that the place brings him good luck. My personal feeling is that it isn't luck the gym brings him, but a feeling that after surviving three weeks at Stillman's he can withstand any hardships the ring might have to offer.

* * *

Sixteen minutes of the 20 I lasted at Stillman's stifling salon were spent watching Pastor work four rounds against two men with styles as similar to Conn's as can be found in sparring partner ranks. Pastor never has seen Conn fight.

He purposely avoids watching a future opponent fight another man. He won't even look at movies of such a fight. He says no man fights the same fight twice and that there is no use planning an attack or a defense ahead of time and that if you do, it may prove a disadvantage.

Colonels Edge Birds, 4-3

Knock Murphy Dickson Out Of Box In 7th.

(By Associated Press)

Columbus pitchers did a neat job of pitching against Louisville, but they stopped just a bit too soon.

* * *

The Colonels were held scoreless for 6 innings, running through the fifth inning of last night's game with the Birds before they got the range and overcame their tormentors.

* * *

Murphy Dickson held the Colonels scoreless last night for five frames before Louisville connected for two runs in the sixth and knocked him out of the box in the seventh. They went on to score a single tally in the ninth for a 4 to 3 victory.

The loss dropped the ambitious Birds three and a half games behind Minneapolis in second place.

Kansas City, after winning 15 straight dropped a 5 to 0 decision to St. Paul.

* * *

Indianapolis, battling to get out of the cellar, rung up an 8 to 2 victory over Toledo, pulling the Hens down into seventh place only a game and a half above the Indians.

The Milwaukee - Minneapolis doubleheader was rained out.

EIGHT CADDIES PAIRED IN PLAY

SHELBY—Eight players have survived the first round play of the annual caddies' tournament at Shelby Country club held Monday on the club course, club officials revealed today.

Surviving players and their pairings for the second round follow: Allan Yarman and Allan Spangler, Francis Lux and Eugene Keller, Bunny McLaughlin and Dick Cumberworth, and Frank Lux and Herbert Poland, jr.

Defeated in the first round play were Bob Schiffer, Burton Monn, Ed Lewis, Bill Coover, Paul Mock, Talmadge Lewis, Dean McCormick and Junior Boreman.

Favorite in the field is Bunny McLaughlin who turned in an 82 score to win his match with Paul Mock. Bob Lehman, winner of the tournament last year, is not entered in the event this year.

CLEVELAND RAMS SIGN ALL BUT FOUR PLAYERS

CLEVELAND — (INS) — Only four important regular members of the Cleveland Rams, National League football team, remained unsigned for the 1940 season today after Johnny Drake, first-string fullback, arrived from his home in Hollywood with a signed contract in his suitcase.

Those who have not signed are Parker Hall, stellar passer, Gaylon Smith, right half, Chet Adams, tackle, and Ted Livingstone, guard.

Galion Team Wins Horseshoe Match From 'All-Stars'

GALION—By a margin of 158 points and 50 ringers, the All-Star No. 1 team of the Galion City Horseshoe league gained a victory over the Columbus tossers at Heise park here Sunday afternoon.

The Columbus team was composed of several champion players. The All-Stars of Columbus had one double ringer more than Galion.

Howard Biller of the Galion team was highest in points of the contest with Ferguson of Columbus and Ernie Pry of Galion, high for ringers and double ringers. Galion's total score was 1266 points, 892 ringers and 219 double ringers; while Columbus made 1108 points, 842 ringers, and 220 double ringers.

On the Galion team are H. Biller, C. Pry, E. Pry, G. Weiner, H. Biles and H. Ness. The Columbus All-Stars included Ferguson, Montney, Harber, Leislein, Benedict and Stalter.

SHELBY ACCEPTS LOW SAND BID

SHELBY—Low bid from the J. C. Morris company for approximately 1,200 cubic yards of sand for the municipal sewer plant was accepted by Mayor W. R. Morris today.

Morris gave a bid of $1.94 per cubic yard. The next low bidder was the Kuensh quarry of Upper Sandusky asking $2.40 a cubic yard.

The sand will be used in the filter beds at the sewer plant. Part of a bond issue approved by the voters for improvement of the plant a number of years ago is being used to finance the renovation of the beds this summer. Bonds were issued for $5,000.

STARS CLASH

Favorites Paired In Shelby Golf Tourney Quarter-Finals.

SHELBY—Two strong contenders in the President's Cup golf tournament at the Shelby Country club will meet in a headline quarter-final match this week.

They are John Daily, jr., of Mansfield and Ed Wenninger of Shelby. Daily jr., defeated Dow Horner, last year's tournament champion, in the first round of the tournament. Wenninger established himself as one of the favorites last week when he defeated Bob Cramer 5 to 4 in the third round of the event.

The quarter-final matches are scheduled this week in the tournament. Other pairings for the semi-finals are Bob Lehman and Bob Daugherty, Herbert Poland and Bill Daugherty, and Harry Smith and Louis Brucker.

Some 44 other players are playing matches to determine flight winners in the other three flights in the tournament. The President's cup is presented to the winner of the first flight, while other awards are given to the other flight champions.

Hermans Stop Rivals To Annex City Title

Kansans Sore Over Raiding

Native Sons Lured Away From State College to Out-Of-State Schools.

By BILL WHITE

NEW YORK—(AP)—College chatter: All that heat out in Kansas isn't generated by the sun. The folks are getting all het up (1940 version) over raids made on native sons by out of state colleges. Latest to get away was the very good Gerald Tucker of Winfield, who will wear Northwestern's purple. . . . Jim Phelan thinks Oregon State may inhale the aroma of the Rose Bowl this year. . . . Bill Nowling of St. Pete (Fla) is another reason Tennessee'll be tough. . . . Ralph Miller, Kansas U's fine passer, may stay out a year and let his trick knee heal. . . . Washington U. of St. Loocy is ready to give up the ghost after this grid season . . . Paul Christman, the marvel from Mizzou, can't have tonsilitis any more. . . .

Score 10 Runs In Second Inning to Hand All-Stars Third Defeat In Softball Series.

The Hermans were challenged to a five-game series for the city softball championship by an All-Star squad selected by Mansfield fans from the Y. M. C. A. leagues.

Manager Frank Beeber's classy combine made a clean sweep of the series by winning the third game by a 12 to 4 count before nearly 2,000 spectators at Liberty park yesterday.

Dale McKinley, touted Alta Lumber hurler, who pitched a one-hitter Sunday against the Newark Independents, started on the hill for the Mansfield Wrecking Company All-Stars yesterday, but his teammates failed to give him any support and before Manager Nick Wagner could relieve him in the second inning the ball game was over.

* * *

In that frame the Hermans, after their 17th consecutive triumph, pushed 10 runs across the plate. The winners added single markers in the fourth and sixth innings of a tilt that was halted at the end of the seventh because of rain.

* * *

Yesterday's setto marked the first time the All-Stars defense has crumbled completely. In the opening game, however, a misjudged fly gave the Hermans the victory.

Fans who witnessed the games are convinced that the Hermans possess a powerful attack and take advantage of every break.

After McKinley left the hill "Stub" Winebrenner of the Tinkey Lumbers took over the mound duties and held the Hermans to two runs the rest of the way.

The defeat yesterday was the first one in the series in which the All-Stars have not held an early lead.

While the Hermans were enjoying a field day the All-Stars were having trouble solving the slants of Jimmy Fullager when runners were on the bases.

Frank Balbaugh paced the Hermans' 12-hit attack with a double and two singles. Fullager added two doubles and Ed Henrich pounded out a home run and a single.

* * *

John Jallabrin and Garner Judy led the All-Stars at the plate with a home run apiece. Nick Weber, Al Stickler and Willard Lockhart contributed a double each to the All-Stars' total.

* * *

The collection taken up at the games will be used to pay for the trophy and a banquet for the players of both teams. The date of the dinner will be announced soon in The News-Journal.

St. John's Club Takes Lead

Tally 5 to 4 Victory Over First Congregationals.

Tallying a 5 to 4 victory over the First Congregationals last night, the St. Johns softball combination took over top position in the Y. M. C. A. Church league.

Augustine was on the mound for the Johnsmen with R. Heitz behind the plate. Larson and Bent were the First Congregational battery.

St. Johns scored once in the first frame and four times in the third for the five-run tally. The Congregationals tallied once in the first, twice in the third, and once in the fourth. The game was called at the end of the fifth inning because of darkness.

In the other Church league contest last night, the First Presbyterian club walloped the First Methodists 9 to 2. Chapman was on the mound for the Methodists, while R. Collins toed the rubber for the winners. Meeker of the Presbys copped hitting honors with a home run.

The Presbyterians scored three [illegible] second inning, once [illegible] third, four times in the [illegible] and once in the sixth. The Methodists scored in the first and once in the sixth.

Braves Drop Tilt To Fostoria Team

SMARTING from the 12-inning 6 to 5 defeat handed out by the last-place Fostoria Red Birds at Fostoria last night, the Mansfield Braves came home today to meet the Red Birds under the floodlights at the Fairground at 8:30 p. m.

* * *

Tony Angaran is expected to get the call from Manager Dewey Stover to handle the mound duties as the Braves try to climb back to the .500 per cent mark in the Ohio State league standings.

* * *

Mansfield enjoyed an early lead last night, but the pitchers were unable to hold it. Everett Stenman started on the hill, but before the contest was over Tony Angaran and Drewek also saw service. Drewek was charged with the defeat.

The Braves were leading by a 4 to 0 count going into the last of the sixth and Fostoria pushed over three runs. The Red Birds knotted the score at 4-all with a marker in the eighth.

* * *

Pilot Stover's warriors forged ahead again in the 10th, with a single tally. Fostoria, determined to win the tussle tied the score in their half of the frame and went on to win with a marker in the 12th.

* * *

Walt Missler was the Braves' batting star, knocking out a double and two singles. Howard Beals, Gene Woodling and Harry Seigbert added two hits apiece to the attack.

Dayton Wings Forge Ahead

Edge Canton 5 to 4 In Loop Tussle.

DAYTON (AP)—The Dayton Wings were the only Mid-Atlantic league club to make any progress in last night's games.

* * *

The Wings edged out Canton for the second straight day, 5 to 4, while Charleston and Portsmouth divided a doubleheader and Akron and Youngstown were rained out.

Canton outhit the Wings, 9 to 8, but Pitcher Ed Albosta lightened up in the pinches, striking out 11 Canton batsmen.

* * *

At Charleston, the Senators took the first game, 4 to 3, in seven innings. Clem Driesewerd hurled the Portsmouth Red Birds to a 6-to-2 win the nightcap.

Whitehead's Short No-Hitter Is Best

Silent John Blanks Detroit, 4 to 0; Wyatt Hurls Brooklyn to Victory Over Giants.

By JUDSON BAILEY, Associated Press Sports Writer.

LIKE decrepit fire horses answering the summons of a familiar bell, a quartet of the American league's tottering pitchers came charging onto the firing line yesterday with some of the season's best hurling, including an abbreviated no-hitter.

Silent John Whitehead, who hadn't won a game this season and was so ineffective the St. Louis Browns sent him to the minors for a spell, blanked the Detroit Tigers 4-0 without a hit in the second game of a doubleheader and knocked the Bengals out of first place.

Whitehead pitched only six innings, because rain halted the game, and his performance won't get his name on the no-hit Hall of Fame list that Cleveland's Bob Feller and Brooklyn's Tex Carleton made early this season.

* * *

But it was a noteworthy bit of workmanship from Whitey, who could win but one game all last year, and it kept up the Browns' favorite sideline of knocking off the pacemakers, previously this year they had bounced the Boston Red Sox and the Cleveland Indians out of first place.

* * *

Schoolboy Rowe, who also served a term in the minors with the grim prospect that he might not come back, pitched six-hit ball to give Detroit a 9-2 verdict in the first game.

Melvin LeRoy Harder, who has been so near the skids this year the fans in Cleveland had taken to booing him, pitched the Indians to a 10-1 triumph over the Chicago White Sox and back into the league lead by a scant percentage margin.

Another admirable comeback was the seven-hit 4 to 1 victory Fritz Ostermueller earned for the Red Sox over the New York Yankees. The little lefthander will be 33 years old next month.

He didn't give more than one hit in any inning and the only time he was scored upon was the eighth, when he walked two men ahead of a single by Joe DiMaggio.

Jimmie Foxx hit his 25th homer with one on to help out and Yankee Outfielder Tommy Henrich forgot how many were out in the fourth and intentionally dropped a fly trying for a double play with two already down.

* * *

* * *

This was the action in the National league yesterday and the first time the two teams ever had met at night.

DUCK HOLMES NAMED ACTING HEAD OF CLUB

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich.—(AP) Howard (Ducky) Holmes, a member of the Brooklyn Dodger organization for many years, has been named acting manager of the Grand Rapids club of the Michigan State Baseball League, a Brooklyn farm.

Holmes said he would remain in charge of the team until the status of Burleigh Grimes, former Brooklyn manager, is settled. Baseball Commissioner Kenesaw M. Landis has called a meeting Thursday of Michigan State League club heads in Chicago to air the suspension of Grimes as Grand Rapids manager following a dispute with an umpire.

Walker Marks 23rd Victory In Ring Fight

Columbus Boxer Impressive In Beating Whiters.

COLUMBUS—(AP)—Jack (Buddy) Walker, Columbus colored heavyweight commanded greater respect from fight followers today after his impressive 12-round decision over the highly-rated Johnny Whiters of Pontiac, Mich, last night.

* * *

Walker, giving his opponent a nine-pound advantage, proved to 6,123 fans that he deserved the widely-disputed decision he gained from Whiters in a 10-round battle July 17.

Whiters, tipping the scales at 200 pounds, went into the ring the favorite in the betting odds. His partisans were gleeful in the first three rounds as the Michigan negro pounded Walker into retreat with a steady stream of lefts to the face and drew blood from the Columbus lad's mouth.

Walker, after a slow start, finally found the range and piled up points by landing many solid blows. He showed greatest superiority in the eighth round, staggering Whiters with a series of hard lefts to the face.

* * *

Referee Arthur Donovan's card showed Walker with seven rounds, Whiters four and one even.

It was Walker's 23rd victory in 24 professional fights. The only mar on on otherwise all-victorious record was a draw with Patsy Perroni of Canton.

BIVINS WINS AGAIN

Indians Start Drive

Believe Pitching Will Give Them Pennant; Allen Faces Chicago.

* * *

That's the way the Cleveland baseball club looked at its pennant chances today after Mel Harder demonstrated again that top form comes to him late in the season.

* * *

Harder pitched the Tribe to a 10 to 1 victory yesterday, checking the Chicago White Sox' upward climb and moving Cleveland into first place as the Detroit Tigers split a doubleheader with St. Louis. The Indians pounded Edgar Smith and Pete Appleton for 12 hits.

Pitching a full game for the first time this season, Harder held the White Sox to five hits and was deprived of a shutout by Mike Kreevich's homer.

The veteran right-hander's late mastery of mound technique bolstered the Indians' already strong pitching to the point where they figured this department could keep them in top position.

The gagging of Roy Weatherly with a $500 bonus offer didn't hurt the Tribe's pennant stock either. President Alva Bradley offered the fiery outfielder this sum if he would call off his feud with umpires.

* * *

Backtalk put him out of a game at Boston several weeks ago, and he has been threatened with indefinite suspension the next time he argues with an umpire. The Indians couldn't afford that—his .322 batting average leads the club.

* * *

Johnny Allen reverted to the role of starting pitcher as Cleveland and Chicago met in a doubleheader today. Al Milnar was named to share the mound work, and Lefty Lee and Bill Dietrich were the Sox' selections.

SPORTS PARADE

By HENRY McLEMORE

NEW YORK—(UP)—It's a great temptation to pick Bob Pastor to beat Billy Conn next Tuesday night for no better reason than that Pastor is training for the fight in Stillman's gymnasium.

* * *

Right now, in the month of August, a searching party composed of Karl Baedeker, Rand McNally and Burton Holmes couldn't find a more unattractive spot, a more uncomfortable spot, than Stillman's gymnasium one flight up from Eighth avenue where it crosses 54th street.

* * *

If it's 90 on the street it's 100 in Stillman's. If it is crowded at the rush hour on Eighth avenue, it's much more crowded in Stillman's. I went there looking for Pastor yesterday, and after 20 minutes I was almost a pulmotor case. It was a shock, to a man accustomed to breathing air all his life, to step into the place and start breathing the combination of cigar and cigaret smoke, resin dust, and liniment fumes they use for air there. There are one or two small windows in the gymnasium but they are always completely filled by men wearing caps and talking out of the corners of their mouths.

Under the dim glow of electric lights that accentuate rather than dispel the gloom, little men, big men, black men, yellow men, white men, and men with bashed noses, disfigured ears, and men with vacant stares, skip rope, punch the bag, shadow box, spar with one another, snort and grunt and heave.

In and out among the fighters weave managers, trainers, gamblers, seconds and all of the strange assortment of characters who make up the fringe of boxing. In some 75 or 100 chairs sit shirt-sleeved, seating on-lookers, who pay twenty-five cents to be a part, for a time at least, of this pugilistic potpourri.

Pastor is training at Stillman's not because he can not afford a camp in the country, but because of superstition. He trained at Stillmans' for many of his early successful fights and feels that the place brings him good luck. My personal feeling is that it isn't luck the gym brings him, but a feeling that after surviving three weeks at Stillman's he can withstand any hardships the ring might have to offer.

* * *

Sixteen minutes of the 20 I lasted at Stillman's stifling salon were spent watching Pastor work four rounds against two men with styles as similar to Conn's as can be found in sparring partner ranks. Pastor never has seen Conn fight.

He purposely avoids watching a future opponent fight another man. He won't even look at movies of such a fight. He says no man fights the same fight twice and that there is no use planning an attack or a defense ahead of time, and that if you do, it may prove a disadvantage.

Colonels Edge Birds, 4-3

Knock Murphy Dickson Out Of Box In 7th.

(By Associated Press)

Columbus pitchers did a neat job of pitching against Louisville, but they stopped just a bit too soon.

* * *

The Colonels were held scoreless for 6 innings, running through the fifth inning of last night's game with the Birds before they got the range and overcame their tormentors.

* * *

Murphy Dickson held the Colonels scoreless last night for five frames before Louisville connected for two runs in the sixth and knocked him out of the box in the seventh. They went on to score a single tally in the ninth for a 4 to 3 victory.

The loss dropped the ambitious Birds three and a half games behind Minneapolis in second place.

Kansas City, after winning 15 straight, dropped a 5 to 0 decision to St. Paul.

* * *

Indianapolis, battling to get out of the cellar, rung up an 8 to 2 victory over Toledo, pulling the Hens down into seventh place only a game and a half above the Indians.

The Milwaukee - Minneapolis doubleheader was rained out.

EIGHT CADDIES PAIRED IN PLAY

SHELBY—Eight players have survived the first round play of the annual caddies' tournament at Shelby Country club held Monday on the club course, club officials revealed today.

Surviving players and their pairings for the second round follow: Allan Yarman and Allan Spangler, Francis Lux and Eugene Keller, Bunny McLaughlin and Dick Cumberworth, and Frank Lux and Herbert Poland, jr.

Defeated in the first round play were Bob Schiffer, Burton Monn, Ed Lewis, Bill Coover, Paul Mock, Talmadge Lewis, Dean McCormick and Junior Boreman.

Favorite in the field is Bunny McLaughlin who turned in an 82 score to win his match with Paul Mock. Bob Lehman, winner of the tournament last year, is not entered in the event this year.

CLEVELAND RAMS SIGN ALL BUT FOUR PLAYERS

CLEVELAND — (INS) — Only four important regular members of the Cleveland Rams, National League football team, remained unsigned for the 1940 season today after Johnny Drake, first-string fullback, arrived from his home in Hollywood with a signed contract in his suitcase.

Those who have not signed are Parker Hall, stellar passer, Gaylon Smith, right half, Chet Adams, tackle, and Ted Livingstone, guard.

Galion Team Wins Horseshoe Match From 'All-Stars'

GALION—By a margin of 158 points and 50 ringers, the All-Star No. 1 team of the Galion City Horseshoe league gained a victory over the Columbus tossers at Heise park, here, Sunday afternoon.

The Columbus team was composed of several champion players. The All-Stars of Columbus had one double ringer more than Galion.

Howard Biller of the Galion team was highest in points of the contest, with Ferguson of Columbus and Ernie Pry of Galion, high for ringers and double ringers. Galion's total score was 1266 points, 892 ringers and 219 double ringers; while Columbus made 1108 points, 842 ringers, and 220 double ringers.

On the Galion team are H. Biller, C. Pry, E. Pry, G. Weiner, H. Biles and H. Ness. The Columbus All-Stars included Ferguson, Montney, Harber, Leislein, Benedict and Stalter.

SHELBY ACCEPTS LOW SAND BID

SHELBY—Low bid from the J. C. Morris company for approximately 1,200 cubic yards of sand for the municipal sewer plant was accepted by Mayor W. R. Morris today.

Morris gave a bid of $1.94 per cubic yard. The next low bidder was the Kuensli quarry of Upper Sandusky asking $2.40 a cubic yard.

The sand will be used in the filter beds at the sewer plant. Part of a bond issue approved by the voters for improvement of the plant a number of years ago is being used to finance the renovation of the beds this summer. Bonds were issued for $5,000.

STARS CLASH

Favorites Paired In Shelby Golf Tourney Quarter-Finals.

SHELBY—Two strong contenders in the President's Cup golf tournament at the Shelby Country club will meet in a headline quarter-final match this week.

They are John Daily, jr., of Mansfield and Ed Wenninger of Shelby. Daily, jr., defeated Dow Horner, last year's tournament champion, in the first round of the tournament. Wenninger established himself as one of the favorites last week when he defeated Bob Cramer 5 to 4 in the third round of the event.

The quarter-final matches are scheduled this week in the tournament. Other pairings for the semi-finals are Bob Lehman and Bob Daugherty, Herbert Poland and Bill Daugherty, and Harry Smith and Louis Brucker.

Some 44 other players are playing matches to determine flight winners in the other three flights in the tournament. The President's cup is presented to the winner of the first flight, while other awards are given to the other flight champions.

16 QUALIFY

Shelby Women Golfers Open Title Play.

SHELBY—Sixteen women have qualified for the annual women's golf tournament at Shelby Country club. Qualifying rounds were held last week. First round pairings are scheduled for this week.

The qualifying players and their matches follow: Mrs. Dow Horner and Mrs. John Van Wagner, Mrs. Herbert Poland, sr., and Mrs. Woodburn Armstrong, Miss Mary Purdy and Mrs. Wayne Carlton, Mrs. Gerald Dennis and Mrs. James Ellery, Mrs. Raymond Dewey and Mrs. Wade Bricker, Mrs. Paul Curry and Mrs. Gerald Lewis, Mrs. B. B. Brown and Mrs. Norman Richmond, and Mrs. Harriet Adkins and Mrs. Jack Kennedy, jr.

Other events this week for the women members of the club include the regular weekly ladies' day activities Friday at the club house and a trip today to Westbrook Country club, Mansfield, as guests of the Westbrook women.

FACES CHARGE IN COURT

SHELBY — Charged with disorderly conduct, Kenneth Donnenwirth today was to appear before Mayor W. R. Morris's court. Donnenwirth was arrested by Shelby police Monday night on an affidavit filed by C. T. Fries, manager of the cafe where Donnenwirth allegedly caused the disturbance.

LAY PLANS FOR CAMPING TRIP

SHELBY—Committee chairmen planning the overnight camping trip this coming week-end for members of Young Men's class of Methodist church met to make final arrangements Monday night at the home of the teacher, Willard Boyles.

The class will motor to Mohican state park, near Loudonville, Saturday afternoon. Other members working will not leave until in the evening. The young men will sleep in tents at the park. They will return home Sunday.

Cooking will be done by the class members. In charge will be William Geary, class president. Other chairmen are Dawson Swisher, transportation; John Gray, food, and Marty Luchansky, equipment.

MEET AT GOLF

Rotary and Ad Club Play In Shelby Tomorrow.

SHELBY—Annual golf tournament between Rotary and Ad clubs will be held Wednesday at Shelby Country club with 38 members of the clubs taking part, Gerald Dennis, chairman in charge of pairings, announced today.

The golf play will start at 1 p. m. Lunch will be served in the evening.

The pairings follow. Listed first in each match is the Ad club player, while the second player is the Rotary member. They are:

J. J. Crum and Bob Hoffman, Lowell Dunathan and Gerald S. Dennis, Paul Curry and Mayor W. R. Morris, Harry May and John Warden, Dr. F. H. Williams and Dr. Glenn Stewart, Mac Crawford and H. L. Dibble, Rev. M. P. Paetznick of Lucas and William Doty, Postmaster L. A. McGaw and George Reichert.

LITTLE ORPHAN ANNIE—Annie—The Clothing Machine Girl By Harold Gray

I HEAR VERY NICE THINGS OF YOU FROM OUR CUSTOMERS--YOU ARE CAREFUL NOT TO WRINKLE THE CLOTHES-
OH, SURE-THAT'S WHY THEY HAD 'EM PRESSED— TO GET TH' WRINKLES OUT-
BUT IT MEANS CARRYING ONLY ONE OR TWO SUITS EACH TRIP--THAT MAKES YOU MANY EXTRA BLOCKS TO WALK-
WELL, I WANT TO DO MY JOB RIGHT---SAY--- YOU KNOW I JUST GOT AN IDEA-
YES? WHAT SORT OF AN IDEA?
WHY, ABOUT HOW I COULD SPEED UP DELIVERIES PLENTY, AND DO EVEN A BETTER JOB---WHY DIDN'T I THINK OF IT BEFORE?
I'LL GET ONE O' THOSE BOXES WITH LITTLE WHEELS UNDER IT---TH' KIND O' RIG YUH HANG SUITS IN AND PUSH---WOW! THAT IS AN IDEA-

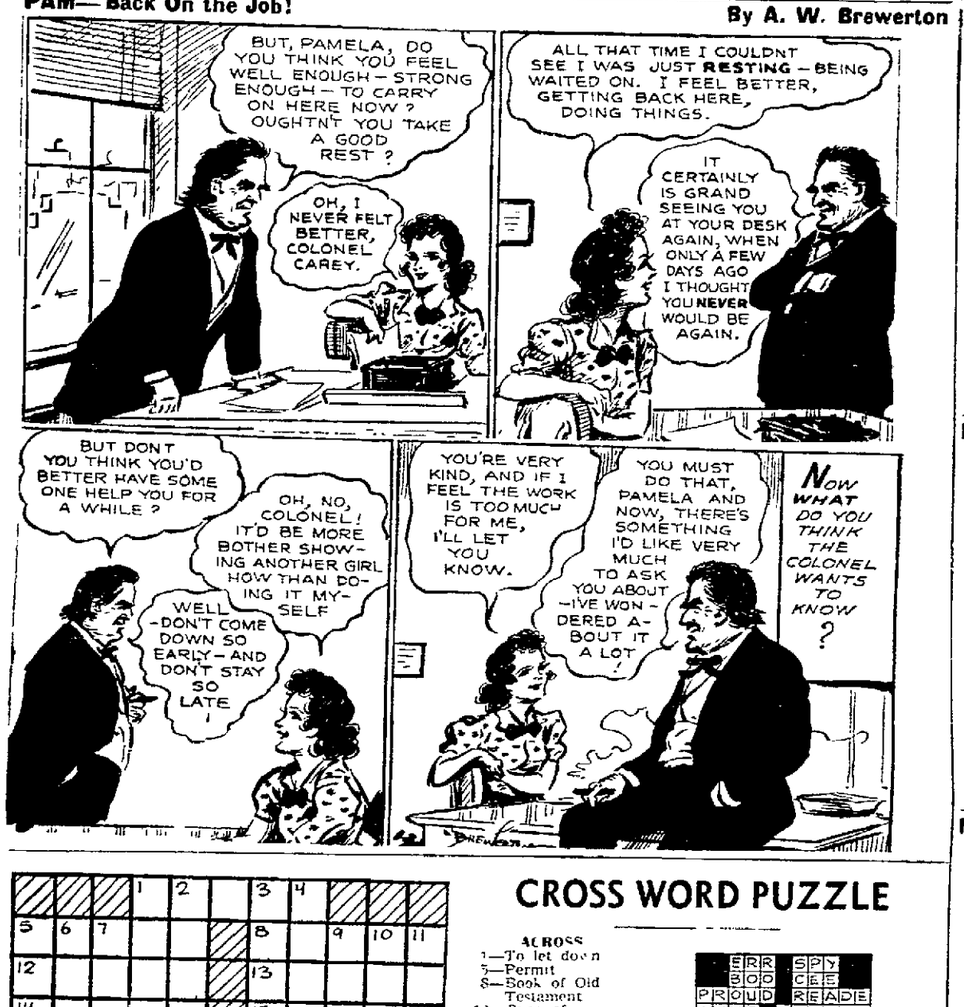
PAM— Back On the Job! By A. W. Brewerton



BUT, PAMELA, DO YOU THINK YOU FEEL WELL ENOUGH—STRONG ENOUGH—TO CARRY ON HERE NOW? OUGHTN'T YOU TAKE A GOOD REST?
OH, I NEVER FELT BETTER, COLONEL CAREY.
ALL THAT TIME I COULDNT SEE I WAS JUST RESTING—BEING WAITED ON. I FEEL BETTER, GETTING BACK HERE, DOING THINGS.
IT CERTAINLY IS GRAND SEEING YOU AT YOUR DESK AGAIN, WHEN ONLY A FEW DAYS AGO I THOUGHT YOU NEVER WOULD BE AGAIN.
BUT DON'T YOU THINK YOU'D BETTER HAVE SOME ONE HELP YOU FOR A WHILE?
OH, NO, COLONEL! IT'D BE MORE BOTHER SHOWING ANOTHER GIRL HOW THAN DOING IT MYSELF
WELL—DON'T COME DOWN SO EARLY—AND DON'T STAY SO LATE!
YOU'RE VERY KIND, AND IF I FEEL THE WORK IS TOO MUCH FOR ME, I'LL LET YOU KNOW.
YOU MUST DO THAT, PAMELA AND NOW, THERE'S SOMETHING I'D LIKE VERY MUCH TO ASK YOU ABOUT—I'VE WONDERED ABOUT IT A LOT!
NOW WHAT DO YOU THINK THE COLONEL WANTS TO KNOW?

'PERFECT GIRL'

WACO, Tex.—(AP)—It may not be so useful during Leap Year, but here's cartoonist Arthur William Brown's description of a "perfect girl" as sent to editors of the Baylor University annual: "She should be dripping with sheer beauty. Love the best figure ever created, beautiful hands and hair (blond or brunette, who am I to be choosy). She must be unselfish, lovable, have glamour, oomph, a sense of humor, and a million bucks."

BIDS REDUCED AS ISSUES CUT PRICES TODAY

Indications of Nazi Invasion Revive Nervousness; Commodities, Bonds Uneven.

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK — Bids for stocks were reduced in today's market and leading issues generally cut prices fractions to a point or so.

European dispatches indicating the Nazi invasion of England might be in its final stages of preparation tended to revive speculative nervousness, brokers said. Business prospects were reasonably hopeful, but were ignored in most cases.

Bonds and commodities displayed uneven trends throughout.

On the offside were shares of U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, Chrysler, United Aircraft, Sperry, Douglas Aircraft, Consolidated Edison and International Paper.

Airline company stocks were listless in the face of estimates passenger plane traffic in July established a new peak for the fifth consecutive month.

Electrical equipments were aided at intervals by reports of growing demand in this field.

Boardrooms found little to cheer about in the statement of federal reserve member banks in 101 cities for the week ended July 31, disclosing a drop of $21,000,000 in commercial, industrial and agricultural loans.

Some comfort was derived from the department of commerce summary placing manufacturers' new orders during June at 11 per cent over the preceding month's volume.

SURVIVOR SAYS ORDER IGNORED

Shafer, who lost an arm and a leg in the wreck, said he had worked the Hudson-Akron run "off and on" frequently. On his last run he was substituting, as he had been doing for 10 days, for the regular conductor, who he said was attending a railroad meeting in Columbus.

The conductor evidently did not realize that only three persons — himself, Murtaugh and another railroad employe — had survived the fiery ordeal. "The one thing I thank God for is that the rest of them escaped," he said. He whispered his story to Dr. Amos, and had to stop occasionally because of spasms of pain.

Shafer said he and Engineman Murtaugh received at Hudson a "19-meet" order which he said "made it clear that we were to take a siding at switch No. 1 (in Cuyahoga Falls midway between Hudson and Akron) and let the freight go through." Shafer "assumed" that Murtaugh had the order perfectly clear.

The conductor added he had a full coach, and was sitting checking his ticket list when—

"I glanced at my watch and noticed it was a few seconds past the time when we should have taken the siding.

"I looked out the window and saw that we had passed it.

"I started up front to see Murtaugh and find out what he was doing.

"As I got to my feet I looked out and saw the locomotive of the freight rounding the curve toward us. I knew we were going to hit."

Shafer continued that he dashed back into the coach's baggage compartment crying "We're going to hit," and then jumped.

Coroner Amos said the conductor was suffering from severe shock. His face was swollen and lacerated.

LEADERS EXPECT SENATE TO O. K. GUARD ORDER

Draft Debate Grows Heated; Lindbergh Called Fifth Columnist.

Chairman Andrew J. May, D., Ky., hoped for an immediate, favorable report on the first. To accelerate action on the second, he planned to appoint a subcommittee of four Democrats and three Republicans.

Senate opponents of the conscription bill planned to offer a flood of amendments which probably will delay final action about two weeks. Yesterday a segment of the senate committee failed to restrict the number of potential draftees to 1,000,000. The proposal was offered by Sen. Josh Lee, D., Okla.

Sen. Burton K. Wheeler, D., Mont., unofficial leader of the "stop-the-draft" drive, considered pushing an amendment to encourage the enlistment of men between 18 and 35 for one-year periods. His proposal also would call for monthly payments of not less than $30.

Opponents of the draft bill welcomed the support of President William Green of the American Federation of Labor who yesterday advocated an army of 1,500,000 men to be raised by voluntary enlistment. He said the Burke-Wadsworth bill was a poorly-planned proposal, and urged President Roosevelt, who has supported the principle of a peacetime draft, to make a complete report to the country on what is needed in men.

President John L. Lewis of the Congress of Industrial Organizations had already stated his opposition to the bill.

Senate debate of the mobilization bill yesterday precipitated heated discussion of the draft bill. Sen. George W. Norris, Ind., Neb., argued that calling out the guard would be enough.

"This should be adequate for our needs while we prepare," he said. "Even if a combination of dictators would attack us in 30 days, this force, plus our navy, should give us a margin of safety which we could use for further preparation."

Hull Calls For Hard Personal Service

WASHINGTON —(AP)— Secretary of State Hull called on the American people today for individual sacrifice and "hard personal service" to help keep the nation at peace.

Without mentioning specifically the controversial question of conscription, he counselled against complacency "in the face of terrific problems and conditions" and declared:

"The one and only sure way for our nation to avoid being drawn into serious trouble or actual war . . . is for our people to become thoroughly conscious of the possibilities of danger, to make up their minds that we must continue to arm and to arm to such an extent that the forces of conquest and ruin will not dare make an attack on us or on any part of this hemisphere.

"To this end, each citizen must be ready and willing for real sacrifice of time and of substnce, and for hard personal service.

"In the face of terrific problems and conditions, and until the present serious threats and dangers have disappeared, we cannot pursue complacently the course of our customary normal life."

Lindbergh Called Fifth Columnist

WASHINGTON —(AP)— Col. Charles A. Lindbergh today received a double-barreled answer to his Chicago speech. Two New Deal senators called him chief of the fifth columnists in the nation, and an amateur statesman whose advice on world problems proves he "still is a great flier."

Lindbergh had charged that domestic and foreign "interests" were attempting to draw the United States into war, urged that America offer Europe a peace plan, and suggested that the United States could "cooperate" with a victorious Nazi Germany.

of Germany's air attack, proved a lively conversationalist at a dinner with the foreign correspondents.

"It is good to be able to have moments like this," he told them "and not have to think always of destruction."

He said the same weapons and methods used to subdue France could not be expected to work against Britain because "England is an island."

Asked if Britain is growing stronger during the present hold-off of direct attack, General Kesselring replied: "Not significantly."

This, he added, is because "it is already becoming more difficult for England to get supplies in the face of German attacks on harbors."

(Grover, in another dispatch last night, described a flight over the French side of the English channel and said he saw no ships afloat on channel shipping lanes visible to him. He was 30 miles from England, however.)

The air commander praised the British Spitfire as a pursuit plane but derided the Hurricanes and said American planes were better than any England is producing.

He declined to make comparative comment on the German Messerschmitt planes but said the dive-bombing Stukas created a new bombing weapon. Lieut. Gen. Hans Speidel added the claim that the Stukas had crowded other bombers out of the field.

Bomb destruction of cities was pictured by Kesselring as not a difficult task. He said his part in the operations against Warsaw was a disagreeable job; that bombs were directed only at military objectives but fire spread to other sections.

London, he added, also is so built that it would burn freely.

He would not predict when the zero hour for direct assault will come, but said "the initiative is in German hands."

Bates said today that he disliked to take men off the traffic squad but that he "couldn't sit by and let hoodlums carry off the town," adding that the only place he could get extra men was from the traffic squad.

The two robberies reported yesterday were similar to all the others, in that thieves broke into places during the absence of owners.

Mrs. Edith Ortasic, 151 West First street, said that her apartment had been entered and that two children's banks, containing about $6.25 had been taken. There were 500 pennies in one and 25 nickels in the other. Police said entrance could have been gained only through a window over a porch or through an adjoining apartment, which was also unoccupied over the week-end.

E. S. Beamer, co-proprietor of the Beamer-Leach Tin Shop, 120 North Mulberry street, found his place ransacked yesterday when he returned from a 15-minute lunch period. A sneak thief had climbed in through an open window, ransacked drawers and had taken a pocketbook containing $5.50 in cash.

ILLNESS FATAL

Edward A. Gallagher Succumbs; Funeral Thursday.

Edward A. Gallagher, 65, husband of the late Ida Mae Brannon Gallagher, died at 11 a. m. today at 111½ East Temple court, where he roomed. Death followed a brief illness.

Mr. Gallagher was born in Dumont, N. J., and had been a resident of Mansfield for 30 years. His wife preceded him in death nine months ago.

He was employed as stockman for the Roderick Lean Manufacturing company a number of years ago.

He is survived by a brother, Tom Gallagher of Dumont, N. J., and several step children.

Funeral services will be held at the Finefrock funeral home at 2 p. m. Thursday with Rev. Grover E. Swoyer, pastor of First Lutheran church, in charge. Burial will be in Ontario cemetery.

5 More Students Placed on Rolls Of OSU Freshmen

Five more students from this area, three from Mansfield, have completed freshman admission requirements to Ohio State university for the autumn quarter, university officials announced here today.

They are George Gazdak, jr., Lee Humphrey and Albert Rimmer of Mansfield, Ralph Sport of Plymouth and Robert Hamman of Williamsport.

Three other young people, who attended the university during the spring quarter, were named to the college of engineering's honor roll. These are William Ackerman and Lars Larson of Mansfield, and Joseph Hair of Mt. Gilead.

Additional school teachers and principals from this vicinity who are enrolled at the university for the summer quarter are William A. Freeman, Kenneth G. Nixon and Floyd W. Wagner of Mansfield, Evan S. Morris of Lucas, Helen Dykes and Elizabeth McKeever of Mt. Gilead, Glen West of Bellville and William Wickline of Lexington.

be run in two classes, A for boys 13 to 15, inclusive, and B for boys of 11 and 12, inclusive.

The winner of the Mansfield Derby receives the impressive M. E. Coyle trophy and in addition the trip to Akron to compete in the national and international Derby. He will receive numerous other prizes awarded by Mansfield merchants.

The drivers will assemble at the Mohican Chevrolet company at 1 p. m. Wednesday and will be driven to Derby hill in automobiles. They will meet at the starting line and will stage a parade in their cars at 2 p. m.

The first two streamlined racers will leave the starting line at 2:30 p. m. sharp and Harry Hartz, an official starter at the National Derby, will be on hand to help the Mansfield officials.

The 12 Mansfield officials, headed by Mayor W. J. Locke, are requested by Cram to be at the starting line at 1:45 p. m. Wednesday.

Mayor Locke will be marshal of the day. Other officials are Harold D. Burns, chairman of hilltop operations; Harvey Bailey, registrar; Nick White, starter; Ira Kochheiser, head judge; Glen Robinson and Atty. John Catlett, judges; Chief of Police Meade K. Bates, safety director; Harker Enlow, first aid director; Charles Martin, clerk of courts; Lee Smaltz, car judge, and Irvin Brune, weigh master.

A list of prizes, including wrist watches, pen and pencil sets, sport suits, medals, binoculars, will be awarded heat winners and the champion and runner-up. The awards will be presented to the winners by Mayor Locke from the stage of the Madison theater at 8:30 p. m. Wednesday.

In addition to the trophy and trip to Akron, the champion will receive a traveling bag from the Ohio Fuel and Gas company; sport suit from Kobacker's; a baseball glove from the Mansfield Athletic Supply; year's membership to the Y. M. C. A.; binoculars, News-Journal; scrap book, Mohican Chevrolet; wrist watch, Chevrolet Motor Corp., and a baseball bat from Derby officials.

There is also a handsome prize list for youngsters finishing first, second and third in each division, awards for the best upholstered car and for the best designed car.

The buses taking spectators out to Derby Hill will leave Central park at 1:15, 1:45 and 2:15 p. m. and will return immediately after the races. Traffic on route 42 will be detoured over the old Windsor cutoff at 1 p. m. Wednesday by state highway patrolmen.

The racing cars are at the Mohican Chevrolet company and will be taken to Derby hill in a truck at 1 p. m. Wednesday.

MOLESTER GETS SPEEDY JUSTICE

Warner frequently bought candy and ice cream for them and took them on joy rides in his car before going to his trailer.

Deputy Sheriff Glenn P. Freeman and Ralph Carroll, county juvenile officer, arrested Warner after parents of a 14-year-old boy complained of his activities. They became suspicious when their son made excuses to get away from home at night and finally got him to tell where he was going, they told officers. Carroll fined the charge.

The hearing was conducted at Judge Anderson's home where he has been confined for the past two days by illness.

When Prosecutor Marriott told Warner he was fortunate to escape with only a year's sentence, Warner replied: "I guess I had it coming to me."

Warner is the third child molester who has been sentenced to the workhouse in the past three weeks by Judge Anderson. Charles Frasher, 76, was sentenced July 19 and Junior T. Butcher, 45, on July 22. Frasher admitted molesting small boys, while Butcher was convicted of contributing to the delinquency of a five-year-old girl.

Questions Use of Women As Decoys In Liquor Arrests

ELYRIA—(INS)—Use of women "decoys" by state liquor inspectors seeking to purchase liquor illegally was questioned today by Common Pleas Judge Guy B. Findley.

In giving Seth O. Nichols, 36, of Chippewa Lake park and nearby Penfield a suspended 30-day sentence for selling liquor without the proper license, Judge Findley asked State Liquor Inspector William J. Hill if the woman who accompanied him to Nichols' roadside stand and asked for a drink was a liquor department employe.

Hill said she was not.

"Would your superiors approve of taking a woman with you?" Judge Findley asked.

"In some cases, yes," Hill replied.

Judge Findley also questioned Hill's charging several drinks to his expense account and asked if one purchase would not have been enough.

Nichi Nichi, an influential Tokyo newspaper, commented:

Adding fuel to the far eastern fires, a Hong Kong dispatch to the London Daily Express said 18 Japanese transports, strongly escorted by warships, had been sighted steaming southward from Formosa. The dispatch pointed to the significance of such a move in view of reported Japanese demands for the right to establish a naval base in French Indo China.

According to the London Daily Mail, the French government is determined to resist any Japanese attack on Indo-China.

Reuters (British) news agency, meanwhile, reported it had learned from a "well informed source" that Julius Streicher, famous Nazi anti-Semitic editor, has been executed or has committed suicide after being condemned by the highest Nazi tribunal for "crimes" against the Nazi party.

At Nuremberg, however, authentic German quarters stated that Streicher is alive and well and has experienced "no trouble."

Italians Claim Air Victory In Libya

BULLETIN

CAIRO—(INS)—Italian forces invaded Somaliland, British protectorate, on August 4, a British communique said today.

ROME—(U.P.)—A high command communique asserted today that Italian advance forces had put a British force to flight in a skirmish on the Egyptian side of the Libyan-Egyptian frontier and had captured two British tanks and destroyed two.

Italian planes returned after shooting down one British fighter in an air battle over Malta, the communique asserted.

It was admitted that one Italian plane failed to return from a reconnaissance flight over East Africa.

Italian forces, including white soldiers and native Dubats and Askaris commanded by Italian officers, have started a general advance against British front line positions in Egypt, Kenya and the Sudan, Italian dispatches from Libya, Italian Somaliland and Ethiopia said.

A dispatch to the newspaper Corriere Della Serra of Milan reported that the main objective of the Italian troops on the Egyptian frontier was the Suez canal, life line to Italian East Africa.

Texan Credited With Downing Nazi Plane

LONDON—(AP)—Arthur Donahue, stocky, 27-year-old American volunteer flier from Laredo, Texas, was given credit by the Royal Air force today for the "probable" destruction of a German plane in a dogfight over the English channel.

To Donahue, who joined up because he "wanted to do something more than just teach other people to fly," the fight was "great fun."

Donahue and other members of a Spitfire squadron shot down two Messerschmitt-109 fighters and possibly downed two others in battle off the French port of Calais yesterday.

Donahue had had 1,800 hours of flying experience before he enlisted. His name was temporarily withheld by the RAF because of the British emphasis on teamwork.

The young American joined the Spitfire squadron less than 24 hours before the engagement after a short period of training in handling speedy pursuit ships.

The flier, known to his British mates as "Texas Shorty," returned from the battle with his plane riddled by machine-gun bullets but he himself escaped unscratched.

"When the king's decision to surrender is fully known I believe he will be applauded," Cudahy declared.

Cudahy went on to say that Belgium's capitulation "was necessitated by the refugee situation." The Anglo-French Allies, he insisted, knew of Leopold's intention to surrender three days before he gave himself and his army over to Chancellor Hitler.

Acts to Further Cement Hemisphere Against Europe

F. D. R. CONFERS WITH OFFICIALS AT LUNCHEON

Meeting With South American Diplomats Overshadows Defense Tour Plan.

(By International News Service)

HYDE PARK, N. Y.—A further move to cement western hemisphere solidarity against any possible encroachment by the European dictator powers was evident today as President Roosevelt entertained diplomats from Argentine, Chile, Paraguay and Uruguay at a Hyde Park luncheon.

The meeting with South American officials who attended the recent Pan-American conference at Havana momentarily overshadowed the president's plans for an inspection of northeastern coastal defenses later this week.

Well satisfied with the Havana agreement that the 21 American republics would take mutual action to prevent any change of sovereignty in new world territory, Mr. Roosevelt looked forward to today's informal luncheon as affording a medium for getting a still better understanding on hemispherical defenses.

Those received by the president and Mrs. Roosevelt were Dr. Leopoldo Melo, chief of the Argentine delegation, and Senora De Melo; Dr. Oscar Schnake, Chilean minister for development, and Senora De Schnake; Dr. Tomas A. Salomoni, Paraguayan minister of foreign affairs, and Dr. Pedro Manini Rios, chairman of the Uruguayan delegation.

Also invited were George T. Summerline, chief of the state department protocol division, and Capt. J. M. Patterson, publisher of the New York Daily News, and Mrs. Patterson.

At a press conference this afternoon the president was expected to divulge his itinerary for his second national defense tour. Best information was that he would leave Hyde Park late this week and swing through New England's naval bases.

40 PRESENT AT BENSON REUNION

The annual George Benson reunion was held at the home of Harry Benson, near Fredericktown, Sunday, Aug. 4. A picnic dinner served at 1:00 p. m. with about 40 in attendance.

During the business meeting a discussion was held regarding the history of the family.

The reunion accepted the invitation of K. S. Benson to hold next year's reunion at his home in Akron, the first Sunday in August. Officers elected for the ensuing year are A. H. Benson, Mansfield, president, and Irvin Benson, Mt. Vernon, secretary-treasurer.

BRITAIN FACES FOOD PROBLEM OPTIMISTICALLY

Orders More Stringent Saving Of Food as Winter Nears; Lists Shipping Loss.

(By Associated Press)

LONDON — Britain faced approaching winter food problems optimistically today although she put teeth in enforcement of her food-conserving regulations and acknowledged new blows to her merchant marine by Germany's air and sea blockaders.

Robert Boothby, parliamentary undersecretary of the food ministry, said it hoped to avoid winter extension of rationing, and even to increase tea allowances.

An order effective Aug. 12, however, will make it punishable by imprisonment up to two years and fines up to $2,000 to waste food which Britain now defines as everything, except water, "used by man for food or drink."

Eighteen British ships totaling 65,601 tons and two Allied ships totaling 7,090 tons were lost during the week ending July 29, the admiralty announced.

Authoritative sources scoffed, however, at the German high command communique today which put total losses of shipping useful to Britain at 657,674 tons in the last three weeks of July, exclusive of warships and tonnage sunk by mines.

One informant declared that the communique "once again multiplies the truth nearly fourfold."

The house of commons took up the finance bill without hearing an expected statement from Richard Butler, undersecretary for foreign affairs, on British-Japanese relations. It apparently has been deferred until tomorrow.

Prisoners Crowd Up On Sheriff, He Borrows 'Wagon'

Sheriff E. P. Long had so many prisoners to take to the Ohio penitentiary and Columbus workhouse today that he had to borrow the county engineer's station wagon for the trip.

The sheriff took four men to the penitentiary and two to the workhouse to begin sentences imposed last week in common pleas and municipal courts.

A seventh prisoner, Dick Eby, 22, of Marion, was taken to the Mansfield reformatory this morning to begin a one-to-20-year sentence for forgery.

Removed to the penitentiary today were J. M. Garaigan, 33, Dayton, sentenced to one to three years; A. W. Firestone, 22, Indianapolis, one to 20 years; Clinton Gipe, 48, Shiloh, one to seven years, and Benjamin Zatzekas, 23, Lorain, one to 20 years.

Frank Lay, 50, Mansfield, and Arthur Warner, 56, Trailer City, were taken to the workhouse. Lay to serve out a $50 fine and costs on an intoxication charge, and Warner a year's sentence for contributing to the delinquency of minors.

County to Seek Advance Draw on Tax Settlement

Richland county began August with only $5,402 in its general fund, and County Auditor Norman L. Wolfe said the county probably will have to get an advance against the last half tax collection to meet its bills this month.

The operating balance dropped from $26,243 on July 1, because the county received no tax money during the past month.

Expenditures amounted to $25,307, while county income, all from department revenue, totaled only $4,465.

The auditor's monthly financial report showed a balance of $2,062 in the relief fund, $39,295 in the auto license and gas tax funds for roads, and $44,291 in the bond retirement fund. The bond fund was unchanged from last month.

On Aug. 1 the county had $280,199 in undivided tax money collected in the last half real estate collection, but receipts today had mounted past the $350,000 mark.

URGE EARLY RESERVATIONS FOR WILLKIE NOTIFICATION TRIP

Mansfielders planning to take the special train to Elwood, Ind., Aug. 17, for the Wendell L. Willkie notification day celebration had better get their reservations made.

Erie railroad officials who were in Mansfield yesterday for a meeting with G. O. P. officials set Mansfield's special car quota at 70 passengers.

Here to complete arrangements for taking on the special car of Republicans who will go to the small Hoosier community to hear the G. O. P. presidential candidate make his acceptance speech, railroad officials said surplus car equipment limited them from taking any more special passengers from Mansfield.

Arrangements were made to place the 70 round-trip tickets on sale here this week and they will be sold on a "first come first served" basis, Earl A. McFarland, 17th district committeeman, handling the sale said.

Expected here Thursday, the tickets will be distributed by Miss Gladys Lash, secretary to Mayor William J. Locke at City Hall.

T. R. Patton, assistant general agent for the railroad with J. W. Gilkison, Mansfield agent, told G. O. P. officials yesterday afternoon that the air-conditioned coach will be coupled to the special train at the Mansfield passenger station.

The train, made up in Akron will also pick up special coaches in Ashland, carrying state highway department employes, and another at Marion.

The Mansfield delegation will leave here at 8:55 a. m. and will arrive in Elwood at 12.10 p. m. The train will leave Elwood at 5 p. m. and is expected to arrive in Mansfield shortly after 9 p. m.

Planes Fly Over Graves of Couple Killed In Crash

As double funeral rites were being held this afternoon for Mr. and Mrs. Carl E. Horchler, both 31, of Lexington avenue road, killed in Illinois Saturday, flowers were to be dropped over the graves at Mansfield cemetery from four airplanes flown by pilot friends of Mr. Horchler.

The planes were piloted by Richard Martin, John Allen, Paul Gimbel and Charles Selsby, all of whom took flying lessons at the same time and did considerable flying with Horchler after receiving their training.

Double funeral services for the popular Mansfield couple were held at 2 p. m. today at the Wappner funeral home with Rev. Paul H Saleste, pastor of St. John's Evangelical church, officiating.

Six young men who were personal friends of the family were pallbearers. They are Robert Darling, Robert Kinstle, Wendell Blust, Ralph Smith, Russell Matthews and Leonard Long.

More than 1,000 friends called at the funeral home last night, and there were about four truck loads of floral tributes.

TAKES NEW POST

J. D. Severs, Former Teacher Here, New Elyria Principal.

J. D. Severs, assistant principal of Elyria high school for eight years and a former teacher in the Mansfield public schools, today was named principal of the Elyria school to succeed C. P. Shively.

Severs was given a two-year contract at $3,800 a year, according to dispatches received here. He formerly taught at Martins Ferry and Columbus North high schools in addition to Mansfield.

Shively served as principal of the school 16 years. His contract was not renewed by the school board.

DELAY ACTION ON PROPOSED ONE-MILL LEVY

Councilmen Express Desire To Study Plan Before Taking Action.

Approval of the plan to put a one-mill levy before voters in November, by which $57,000 could be raised for additional firemen, police, playgrounds and parks, will be withheld by city council for at least a month, Fred Miller, chairman of the council finance committee said today. It was scheduled to come before city council tonight.

Miller said that council wanted more time to study over the proposed levy and that there would still be time to get it on the ballot if action is delayed until the next regular meeting of council on Sept. 3. He also said that there might be a special meeting of council to discuss the various ramifications of the proposed levy.

Another dissenting voice came from the city park board. Roy Vaughn, president of the board, said today that members of the board met last night and were reluctant to participate in the levy under the present set-up. He said that the plan of city council to earmark the funds raised by the levy for specific purposes, was all right now but that city councils in the future could nullify such labels and divert the money into other channels.

Most important legislation to come before council tonight is the proposal to buy parking meters for the down town district. The meters were recommended by the recent survey on traffic problems.

The finance committee will recommend the appropriation of $2,000 from sewer rentals to purchase a sewer cleaning machine, Miller said.

BOY DROWNED

SANDUSKY — (U.P.) — Charles Malinowski, 16, who came to Sandusky today to fish with his family, was drowned when he fell into eight feet of water at East battery park. The boy was taking a lunch basket from the back of the family car on the pier and fell into the water. A fire department rescue squad recovered the body.

BATTERY D PREPARES TO START WISCONSIN TREK NEXT SUNDAY

While advance units of the Ohio National Guard will start moving toward Sparta Wis., for annual army maneuvers Thursday, Mansfield's Battery D, 134th F. A. will not start the motor trek until 5:30 a. m. Sunday.

The motor caravan will be made up of all of the battery's rolling and field equipment, 73 enlisted men and four officers. Lieut. J. E. Gary, reserve officer of Youngstown, will accompany the unit which will be in charge of Capt. R. J. Nichols, commander of the battery.

Nichols said today that he would be two men short, due to the fact that two privates are recovering from recent appendicitis operations.

The battery will bivouac the first night at Plymouth, Ind., and Monday night at Camp Grant, Ill. The unit expects to be at Camp Warrens, Sparta, by Tuesday noon.

The advance units that go out Thursday will have tents and field supplies on hand when the major part of the 37th division are expected to take part in the maneuvers.

The training period this year embraces three weeks instead of the usual two and will officially open Aug. 13 and close Aug. 31.

Sale Of Bicycle Permits Continues But at Slow Pace

Applications for bicycle permits continued to come in slowly today, third day of the permit sale, although there were a number of inquiries as to what equipment is necessary before a permit will be issued.

The sale went into effect last week, with permits issued on Friday and Saturday. Today and Thursday were announced as sale days this week. Permits will not be issued every day, Police Chief Meade K. Bates said today, but only on days that are announced.

Out of the first 1,000 bicycle tags purchased by the city only 79 had been sold up to this morning.

Equipment required on bicycles before permits will be issued are rear wheel brakes in good condition, a headlight that will throw a 300 foot beam, and a three-inch red reflector on the rear.

TAKES POSITION AT TIRE FIRM

J. M. Slattery Purchasing Director At Mansfield Plant.

James M. Slattery, formerly in charge of cotton and rubber purchases for Fisk division of the United States Rubber company, has been appointed director of purchases for the Mansfield Tire and Rubber company, according to an announcement made yesterday.

Slattery attracted international attention two years ago when he became the first American industrial leader to publicly advocate United States independence of foreign hemisphere rubber supplies through development of South American plantations of this vital war commodity.

Pennsylvania has the most church buildings—13,327—of any of the states.

MANSFIELD, OHIO, TUESDAY, AUGUST 6, 1940.

Appeasement Has Already Failed

AMAZING differences of opinion are being expressed on such subjects as defensive preparedness, aid to Great Britain and conscription.

The voice of aging General John J. Pershing is raised, through a sense of duty, to urge sale of fifty or more "overage" World war destroyers to Great Britain in the hope that this may "save us from the danger and hardship of another war."

"More than half the world is ruled," said General Pershing, "by men who despise the American idea and have sworn to destroy it. . . . I say to you solemnly that tomorrow may be forever too late to keep war from the Americas. Today may be the last time when, by measures short of war, we can still prevent war."

Col. Frank Knox, secretary of the navy, also sounded a warning of the immediate need for quickest possible expansion of sea, land and air power as a defense against foreign aggression.

"We know from the experiences of the last World war and from the tragic examples of the countries now conquered that it takes as long to train men as it does to build machines. Obviously then, if we are to protect ourselves, our integrity and this hemisphere, we can take but one action: Adopt compulsory military training and adopt it now."

Speaking at a peace meeting in Chicago, however, Col. Charles A. Lindbergh warned against "domestic and foreign interests" which, he asserted, were attempting to draw the United States into the European war.

"I have a different outlook toward Europe than most people in America," Col. Lindbergh said. ". . . in the past we have dealt with a Europe dominated by England and France. In the future we may have to deal with a Europe dominated by Germany . . . an agreement between us could maintain civilization and peace throughout the world as far into the future as we can see."

The Lindbergh philosophy sounds strangely like the Chamberlain policy of appeasement that was followed all too long by Great Britain and France—even smacking of the lethargic attitude taken by the victorious Allies after the treaty of Versailles.

With the showing of purpose that has already been made by Hitler and his totalitarian associates it would appear that the realistic attitude taken by those men whom General Pershing refers to as "best qualified to know" should take precedence over the views of Col. Lindbergh in matters having to do with acceptance of Nazi domination of Europe and problems of national defense.

Arguments thus far presented throw the balance strongly in favor of sale of surplus "overage" but still serviceable destroyers, and giving such other aid to Great Britain in munitions and supplies as may prove helpful in accomplishing the overthrow of Hitlerism in Europe.

Parking Meters Up for Decision

CITY COUNCILMEN will have opportunity tonight to decide the matter of installing a limited number of parking meters, on a trial basis, in Mansfield.

More than a year has been given to pro and con discussion of this subject, during which time much information has been gathered in regard to the experience of other cities with parking meters as a means of relieving traffic congestion in business districts.

Reports of experience have been so uniformly favorable in cities of Mansfield's size and larger, that there is no apparent justification for further delay here.

In the recently submitted report of the Citizens' Committee on Traffic, which worked in co-operation with a similar council committee, this point was covered as follows:

"The sub-committee on parking is convinced that parking meters would do more for the downtown traffic situation than any other conceivable plan. The use of these meters has spread throughout the country and they are now installed in towns ranging from populations of 2,000 and 3,000 up to cities the size of Cleveland, Pittsburgh, Toledo, etc. The experience of these cities has been extremely favorable and there seems no reason why Mansfield should not enjoy similar benefits. Meters will not only make parking easier, but will correct many other conditions that could be remedied in no other way. . . . It is strongly urged that all revenue from meters be used for improving our present traffic conditions."

The work of the Citizens Traffic Committee was thoroughly and conscientiously done. The suggestions offered evidence careful study of the existing situation and a sincere attempt to point the way to improvement. The committee's unqualified endorsement of parking meters as an initial step toward relieving congestion in downtown streets deserves thoughtful consideration by all councilmen, as well as by citizens interested in adding to public safety and convenience.

Law Says 'Pass To the Left'

FOR THE ENLIGHTENMENT of any other motorists who may not know it, as well as for Belleville driver of car bearing Ohio license number VZ-685, the following excerpt is taken from Ohio motor vehicle laws (Sec. 6310-20):

"The driver of a vehicle overtaking another vehicle proceeding in the same direction shall pass to the LEFT thereof at a safe distance and shall not again drive to the right side of the highway until safely clear of such overtaken vehicle."

This means, of course, that passing to the RIGHT is not only dangerous, but against the law, with penalty of $25 fine prescribed for first offense and $50 fine for a second offense.

The excuse, "I've seen a lot of others do it," would not likely be regarded favorably by the police or the court.

Joshing the Enemy

THE MOST hopeful sign that worries Americans see in England is the way the British take it. That sense of humor. The most notable example to date was given this week, from the London Daily Herald:

"The reason Hitler has not yet tried to invade Britain is that his experts are having difficulty forecasting the weather that will prove that we planned to invade Britain first."

Hitler has done that with every other country he's invaded. He really lost when he can't follow his regular procedure.

FUGITIVES FROM THE WOODPILE

Campaign's Course Disturbs FDR

—By CARTER FIELD

WASHINGTON — President Roosevelt, much disturbed by the course of the campaign so far, is certain to take some step calculated to shock the country, make it forget the present campaign issues, and center all interest on the international crisis.

But—up to now—the administration's political strategy has shown few signs of the old political cunning so disastrous to Republican hopes in 1932, 1934, and 1936.

For instance, appointment of Henry L. Stimson and Frank Knox, Republicans, to the cabinet. This did play hob with certain figures at the Republican convention, as when John Hamilton read them out of the party. But the net result was bad for the Roosevelt side. Some folks wondered why a 72-year-old man was all right for the toughest job in the defense plan, head of the war department, but not to sit as a justice of the supreme court.

Moreover, this led to the firing of Louis Johnson, who had demonstrated more vision than any one around the administration, and also proved his ability. Firing him to let Stimson have his own choice as an assistant did not make a hit, for everybody knew NO cabinet member for years has really picked his own assistant. Certainly not Cordell Hull, who disliked Ray Moley and never really warmed up to Sumner Welles. George Dern, F. D. R.'s first secretary of war, didn't pick Johnson, and Harry Woodring would have loved to throw him out.

* * *

ANOTHER instance was the thin disguise thrown over the "draft" of Roosevelt, the prominence given to the big city bosses, Frank Hague, of Jersey City, Ed J. Kelly, of Chicago, Ed Flynn, of the Bronx, etc. and the clear dictating of the vice presidential nominee against the obvious wishes of a majority of the delegates, all of which could scarcely have been calculated to gain votes for the party.

All this came on top of the treatment of John Nance Garner, Paul V. McNutt, and James A. Farley, to mention three of the would-be aspirants crushed by allowing Roosevelt's name to be used in the big primary states where machines could be depended upon to do the president's bidding.

The point in all this is that they were not clever, politically. Roosevelt could have been renominated had he insisted from the first day that did not want it, and if he had refused to allow his name to be used in any primary. The Democrats at Chicago were so afraid of Willkie that they would have voted overwhelmingly for a third term even if Roosevelt had pretended he wouldn't take it.

* * *

MEANWHILE Willkie, to date, has not made a mistake so far obvious. He placated Dewey, Taft and Vandenberg. He solved the ticklish problem of national chairman without offending the friends of John Hamilton, and yet sidetracked him so effectually that his bitter enemy, Alf Landon, was pleased. He made Joe Martin, most hopeful of the dark horses, happy by making him national chairman, a particularly happy choice because every ambitious Willkie backer knows that Martin wants only what he would get anyhow, in the event of victory—the speakership of the house.

Willkie's "vacation," of course, has been a joke. He has been working without regard to the limitations of the wage-hour law. But he has the Rooseveltian faculty of enjoying everything, making everybody think he is delighted to see them, and all reports are that he has won a lot of friends out in the mountain states.

Especially, he is pursuing a course calculated to pull F. D. R. down off his "pedestal," to use Willkie's own words when Roosevelt lashed out at John Hanes and Lewis Douglas as being "after dollars."

Listen, World!

Give Me Life!

—By ELSIE ROBINSON

PLANTS are a great show. All this morning, crossing over the ridge that lies behind my camp, I have been tramping through them. Hundreds of kinds of plants—mile after mile in their infinite variety . . . tiny mosses, filaments of copper cups of amber . . . "mountain misery" spreading in a gummy mat along the powdery, pink soil, smelling like pew leather . . . ferns, turning rusty gold with the first Fall frost . . . manzanita, ruddy-barked, orange berries hanging in its silver green leaves . . . chaparral that, in the Spring, will be a foam of blue . . . live oaks, spreading gnarled gray branches low along the ground . . . swamp oaks, spraying skyward like fountains . . . bull pines, purple dark, heavy as bronze against the brittle blue sky.

Hundreds of varieties of plants and no two alike in leaf or fruit. Yet all alike in this. All are reaching out from the dark and secret places in which they are rooted, stretching out toward the sunlight, seeking to release and enrich themselves.

Tramping through the woods, touching plants on every side, that thought 'moves you strangely. Suddenly they are no longer plants. They are living creatures, filled with hunger and desire. Living creatures crying . . . almost you can hear them crying! . . . "Give me me life! Give me life! Give me life!"

No matter how common the plant, no matter how dark the hiding, always there is that reaching out, always there is that cry "Give me life!" And when once you have heard that cry you can never again feel the same about plants. For the cry that is in them is in you too, though the plant is a weed and you a human being, you both cry: "Give me life!" and that cry binds you together.

And what is true of plants and of you is true too of all other men. There never yet was a life that wasn't reaching out that wasn't trying to better itself.

The thing for which that other life reaches may seem trivial or stupid or actually vicious to you but to that life it seems worthwhile. And its cry "Give me life!" is all of a piece with your cry "Give me life!"

Solomon praying for wisdom . . . Byrd daring the Pole . . . Mamie trying to land a new boy friend . . . and the missis raising Cain because she can't have a new roadster . . . they are all reaching out. Reaching out for something that to them will enrich life and make them more powerful and happy.

Even the drunkard and the hop-head are reaching out, trying through their terrible addiction to escape into a realm where they may be at peace.

Every man reaches out. And though the thing for which he reaches may be unworthy, the reaching itself is not unworthy. It is the most necessary and the most sacred thing in life.

Despise, if you wish, the thing for which a man reaches—but don't despise the urge that makes him reach. For that urge is Life, trying to increase itself. And Life is always mysterious and terrible and holy whether you find it in a common weed or in a loafer on a park bench—or in a saint or a philosopher.

They all cry "GIVE ME LIFE!" Respect their cry . . . as you wish them to respect yours.

Washington Merry-Go-Round

Evidence of Organized Prompting In Opposition to Conscription Bill

—By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

WASHINGTON — The behind-the-scenes situation in congress on compulsory military training is one of the most extraordinary in years.

It is safe to say that there are decisive majorities in both house and senate in favor of such legislation. President Roosevelt has endorsed it, the Gallup and Fortune polls have reported overwhelming approval throughout the country, and army and navy heads have repeatedly declared it urgently necessary to build up the nation's defenses.

Ordinarily such a combination of forces would ensure immediate approval. But these are not ordinary times.

A momentous presidential campaign is in the offing and the small senate isolationist clique, supported by an ubiquitous lobby, is using this fact literally to paralyze congressional action.

Politicians have a mortal terror of taking a stand on a controversial issue during an election no matter how strongly they believe in it personally. This is thoroughly understood by the isolationists and their lobby janissaries, who are making full use of it to scare the politicos out of voting their convictions.

* * *

Strange Bed-Fellows.

THE isolationist lobby consists of one of the wierdest collection of political bed-fellows ever seen in America. It includes Roosevelt-haters of both Republican and Democratic persuasion, plus pacifists, Bundists, Coughlinites, Communists, leftish labor elements, and Fifth Columnists.

It is these forces that are secretly behind the flood of mail about which the isolationist leaders like Vandenberg and Wheeler are making such an ado. A scrutiny of the letters shows clearly that the great majority of them are the result of organized prompting.

This is demonstrated not only in the frequency and similarity of such expressions as "this will lead to war," "compulsory training is a step toward fascism, "but in other telltale ways. Thousands of the letters bear Germanic names. Others are from unmistakable pacifist, Coughlinite and Communist sources. Others are from those CIO elements that take their cues from John L. Lewis.

Also highly significant is the fact that the only heavy recipients of this mail are the big-shot isolationist senators. The average congressman is getting relatively few letters. But Vandenberg, Wheeler and others of their clique are getting them by the sackful.

Obviously this is not a coincidence. It is clearly a secretly directed activity, for the express purpose of giving them the basis for a claim of public hostility that they can use to bugaboo congress into inaction.

* * *

Draft Logic.

Testifying before the house military affairs committee, the clergyman contended that no one should be compelled to bear arms in peacetime. This brought a quick rejoinder from square-jawed Representative Andy Edmiston of West Virginia.

"Dr. Fosdick," he asked, "if someone socked you on the nose, would you hit him back?"

The dignified preacher blinked at this realistic query, coughed several times and then suavely observed that he was a man of peace with no flair for fisticuffs.

"All right," persisted Edmiston, "then suppose someone invaded your home with a gun. Do you think that would be sufficient provocation for the use of firearms in self defense?"

"Absolutely not," replied Fosdick stoutly. "The Bible well says that they who take the sword shall perish with the sword."

"Yes, I know," said Edmiston. "I'm a great believer in the Bible myself and I think that is true. But I also think that he who hasn't got a sword in times like these is apt to perish also."

U. S. Diplomacy.

THESE are days of shrewd, stream-lined diplomacy when the dictators appear to be missing no tricks. Among other things, the Nazis have collected Maurice Thorez, French Communist leader, and sent him in a sealed train to Paris where he is expected to turn up sooner or later as leader of a new Nazified government.

In China, the Japanese carefully protected the boy Emperor, Henry Pu Yi and placed him in charge of the puppet throne of Manchukuo, while in South America, Nazi leaders are in touch with various politicos who can set up dummy governments for them when the time is ripe.

At present the state department has several chances to win friends among the scores of political exiles seeking admission to the United States. One of the most notable of these who applied for admission recently was ex-Premier Negrin of Spain. Negrin has a tremendous following in South America, especially Mexico and Chile. He is also a firm friend of the United States, has two boys who are being educated in Harvard and Princeton.

But when his name came before state department diplomats, two of the top-notchers said No. And one of them, Assistant Secretary Breckenridge Long, once had been paid a retainer by Negrin to represent the Spanish Loyalist government in Washington.

Looking For Trouble.

SOME people just never learn. Administration chiefs, with the echoes of the raucous Bronx cheers of the Chicago convention still painful in their ears, are bending over backward to patch up party wounds and re-establish, at least on the surface, an atmosphere of amity and unity for the tough campaign ahead.

But in the midst of these frantic efforts, some of Secretary Wallace's lieutenants are seriously urging that Rex Tugwell, former No. 1 brain truster, be named to his cabinet post.

If there is any single move that would tear the party wide open, that is it. Tugwell is a brilliant economist, a sincere humanitarian and a gentleman. But to old-line leaders he is a flaming red flag.

The mere mention of his name causes them to snort in rage and square off for battle. To attempt to make him secretary of agriculture would precipitate a factional fight that would lick the Democrats even if Willkie never lifted a finger.

Nevertheless some of Wallace's bright young executives, apparently with the fate of their own choice jobs uppermost in their minds are trying to put this over.

Man About Manhattan

—By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK — Have you ever seen a dream walking? I have. It's the Broadway nightclub proprietors. Maybe "daze" would be a better word than "dream." Something's hit them. They don't quite know what. But it all adds up to this: Empty tables. Idle waiters. Maybe it's the weather. Maybe it's politics. Maybe people prefer to sit by their radios than go out. In any case, the traffic is low, yet the rent goes on, and the license fees and the salaries.

We went into a club last night with seating arrangement for four hundred and found 43 people. We went into another that seats about 300 and found 55. We went into a hotel roof garden that can accommodate 800 people and counted 31. They seemed lost and melancholy. The orchestras were playing their best. But their hearts weren't in it. Their hearts were out of the window with the breezes, or in the manager's office, wondering about their contracts.

It has always been stated that in times of national and international stress—such as wars—people become imbued with a sort of to-hell-with-it-let's-enjoy-life-while-we-can complex. This has been true in the past. It isn't true now. People would rather listen to Willkie or Roosevelt than to Joe Lewis or Milton Berle. They would rather hear a news broadcast than pay a cover charge for the privilege of listening to a "society" orchestra. There will always be nightclubs in New York, and some of them will prosper. But the old, crowded, jammed-up days seem gone.

* * *

THERE is a stenographer in a midtown hotel whose name is Janet Alderman. All day she sits at a typewriter punching out letters but she would rather be playing Helen Holmes on the top of railroad box cars. She comes from Texas, and twice she has fallen off box cars. What, you will very properly ask, what business has a young girl riding on the top of box cars? Absolutely none. "But I can't help it," she confesses. "It's a sort of mania. I've been doing it ever since I was big enough to climb upon one. My mother finally sent me to New York to stay with my aunt—just to keep me off box cars."

We record this item purely on the hunch that it may be of use to theorists who may plan to chart the drift of people from rural communities to the big city.

WENT to the talkies last night and saw "My Love Came Back." Grand entertainment. . . . Played croquet in the afternoon with Milt and Esther Caniff out at Pomona, New York, and won, which is a commentary on the level of the game they play out there. . . . I hadn't played in two years. . . . Later, driving home, the radio broke down just as a description of an aerial dog-fight over the North sea was coming in from London . . . Cost me $4.25 to have it fixed. . . . "The condenser blew out," the man said . . . Which reminds me, I've got five radios, and four of them are broken. . . . But if I have to have them all fixed, then I will be broke.

The Parson's Baby

—By CALVIN A. BYERS

ADAM AND EVE are a young parson and his wife, who recently took over the task of building up a run-down church. Adam is a dreamy, ambitious, personable young man with great capacity for growth and wider sympathies than his years and experience might warrant. Eve is a country-bred girl, neat, sweet and practical. She is a careful housekeeper, an excellent cook, a naive and charming hostess.

The rambling old parsonage, under their regime, has become a homey place—a center of gay friendly hospitality. And last month they had a baby!

She is a tiny, blue-eyed mite with patrician features, a lusty, low-voiced cry and a quiet, unobtrusive personality. She is a good baby, not given to colic. She sleeps at night, and most other times as well. She goes to church and sleeps, in her pink and white bassinet, all through her father's sermon. The funny thing, Ad says, is that her very presence seems to give more meaning to the service. Everyone loves a baby. The sight of that wee pink face cuddled there among the blankets, the tiny hands with a ring tied on with a pink ribbon, the downy yellow head that dents the pillow, awakens memories in many minds and brings a warm, beneficent urge to goodness.

"A little child shall lead them," quite true. Little newborn hands hold the future of the world in their trusting grasp and clutch with innocent faith at every normal adult's hand and heart.

"I'm so glad you have her," I said to Eve. "Nothing can ever take the place of a family."

"So much can happen in so short a time," she returned. "We have been married only two short years and life has been so rich! Why we just live and live and live! I wonder sometimes just what we have ever done to deserve to be so happy."

The parson came in just then, with the baby on his arm. "She drank three ounces of water—and is she wet!" said he. "I put her against my shoulder to let her burp—and look!" A long wet streak marred the white expanse of his shirt front.

"Never mind," he grinned. "I'll be dry enough in the pulpit without a doubt!"

"He'll do," I thought. "If I lived in his town, I'd go to his church, myself."

ARMY PLANNING TO STREAMLINE PLANE DEMANDS

Fewer Kinds of Machines to Simplify Increased Factory Output.

By DEVON FRANCIS
(UP Aviation Editor)

WASHINGTON — The army gradually is reducing the number of types of warplanes in its defense brochure, and the result, aircraft manufacturers believe, will be reflected during the months to come in a sharply accelerated output on the production lines.

Even Germany, with the world's greatest air force and in the midst of a war, has too many kinds of warplanes for efficient mass manufacture, in the opinion of United States army officers. The evidence is accumulating that Hitler's air ministry is cutting down on the number of designs produced.

If the army air corps hews to the line projected for maximum production in the air rearmament drive, it will have six general categories of planes: Interceptors, single-engine pursuits, twin-engine fighters, attack planes and medium and heavy bombers.

Up to now, no fewer than 18 combat types have been in the service of the air corps.

That has been due partly to the existence of a tactical experimentation program. The army wanted to see what the planes could do, both individually and en masse. It was due partly to the lack of a coordinated program for the employment of aircraft in wartime. Army strategy and tactics are products of the nation's foreign policy, and the air corps has not known what it would be called upon to do.

With the emergence of hemisphere defense as the goal of the rearmament program, the air corps found its work cut out for it.

Here are some of the types of aircraft which will go into the discard in the drive for greater air power: Single-engine attacks, day and night bombardment planes, single-engine bombardment planes, general liaison planes and bi-plane pursuits.

Remaining in the non-combat types probably will be short-range corps and division observation planes.

The interceptors for "localized" defense, which the army is going to buy by the hundreds, are typified by the Bell pursuit, made in Buffalo, N. Y. The Curtiss "P-40," made in Buffalo, typifies the new pursuit equipment, and the Lockheed twin-engine fighter, made in Burbank Calif., the interceptor for long-range work.

The Boeing "B-17" four-engine bomber, made in Seattle, already standard air corps equipment, and the Consolidated "B-24," made in San Diego, also four-engined, will provide the general design for long-range bombardment machines. Such planes are intended for forays deep into enemy territory on the theory that the best defense is an offense.

The army's medium bombers will be like the Douglas "B-23," made in Santa Monica, Calif., and attack planes will follow the general lines of Curtiss "A-20," made in Buffalo. Medium bombers, unlike the long-range planes, are intended for operation in the ground army's theater of action, and attack planes are used for breaking up concentrations of ground troops. The Germans use "Stuka" dive bombers for the same purpose.

The most sensational development in warplanes the world over is the rangy heavy bomber capable of carrying multiple tons of bombs. The United States army's newest experimental machine is designed for a "payload" of 28 tons. Germany is reported to have six-and-eight-engine long-range bombers in the process of manufacture.

Some American army officers are talking of an even greater simplification in types — only two kinds of fighters and two of bombers. The army long ago abandoned the idea of an "ideal" all-purpose plane.

As one officer expressed it, "you can't make a plane which will carry 10,000 pounds of bombs 2,000 miles and still climb to a fighting altitude of 30,000 feet in ten or fifteen minutes."

DOG DEPARTS

PORTLAND, Ore. —(INS)— This is the story of a turkey that saved the hash—or at least J. A. Lee. Lee was inspecting some real estate property when he was attacked by a German shepherd dog. A turkey gobbler "as big as a house" flew into the dog and drove him back with wing and spur.

GOES PATRIOTIC

MIAMI, Fla. —(UP)— A Miami laundry, which originated the slogan "Isn't it great to be an American" used nationally now, advertises that it will clean American flags free.

RADIO MOVED

ILWACO, Wash. —(INS)— The radio detail of the United States coast guard is now moved into new quarters, thanks to a defective heating pad. The 13-man crew was scheduled to move to the new station at North Head but reception proved so poor that the change was cancelled. Investigation revealed that a short-circuited heating pad belonging to an employe was the cause. Officials bought the man a new appliance.

It is thought that only one of the 12 apostles, John, escaped martyrdom.

POCKET RADIO

NEW YORK—(INS)—After many years of experimentation, Radio Corp. of America has announced the development of a "personal radio," a self-contained receiving set weighing only four pounds. It is less than nine inches long, four inches wide and three inches deep. The set is equipped with a strap and may be slung over the shoulder.

Another Destroyer For U. S.

Another U. S. destroyer is launched at Bath, Me., adding to Uncle Sam's increasing naval strength. The new warship is the U. S. S. Livermore, named in honor of the late naval hero, Chaplain Samuel Livermore. The ship is of 1,850 tons, 341 feet long and its largest guns are five-inch caliber.

For America's Boys at Their Best
Be Sure to See the
ALL-AMERICAN SOAP BOX DERBY

Tomorrow, 2:30 P. M. on Route 42 Between Mansfield and Ashland

For a Grade A exhibit of Americanism in action, be sure to see the Soap Box Derby tomorrow.

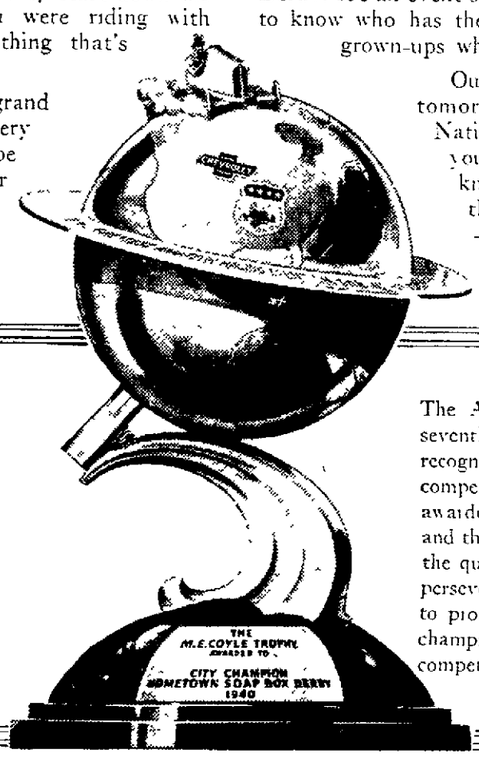
Look over the racing cars. None of them cost much. You'll marvel at the skill and craftsmanship of the boys who built them. You'll re-capture the spirit and enthusiasm of your early youth when you see the boys hurriedly making last-minute adjustments to their racers. Your hands will itch to help them; and as they start down the incline, you'll feel as though you were riding with each boy—helping him with everything that's in you to win.

It will thrill you to see what grand sportsmen these youngsters are. Every one is out to win—that's as it should be—but there's always a good word for the loser and a "good going" salute for the winner. They're all such swell sports that you'll have a hard time picking your favorite.

Yes, there's fun, thrills, excitement all the way. It's a great day for the boys, and a great day for you, too. You'll remember the skill, the courage, and the good sportsmanship of these boys long after the race is over.

Chevrolet and your local Chevrolet dealer are proud to join with this great newspaper in sponsoring the Soap Box Derby. It's an event of, by and for boys, but it's a problem to know who has the best time—the youngsters or the grown-ups who cheer them on.

Our city will have a new champion tomorrow. He'll represent us at the National and International Finals. Won't you come out tomorrow and let him know you're pulling for him to win the national title and the grand prize—a four-year college scholarship.



For the Champion

THE M. E. COYLE TROPHY

The All-American Soap Box Derby, now in its seventh year, has won national and international recognition as one of the greatest character-building competitions for boys. The M. E. Coyle Trophy, awarded to the champion in each of the one hundred and thirty cities where races are held, is a symbol of the qualities of sportsmanship, resourcefulness, and perseverance which the Soap Box Derby is designed to promote. . . . At Akron, Ohio, August 11, the champions from one hundred and thirty cities will compete in the All-American and International Finals.

MANSFIELDER WEDS PENNSYLVANIA GIRL

Thomas Constance and Miss Nellie Adams Married In New Castle, Pa.: Stopping Here En Route to California.

OF INTEREST to Mansfielders was an announcement received this morning of the marriage of Miss Nellie Adams of New Castle, Pa., and a Mansfield man, Thomas Constance, at the Gospel tabernacle of the Christian and Missionary Alliance in the Pennsylvania city on Aug. 4.

Rev. J. Henry Boon, pastor of the church, performed the single ring ceremony at 3 o'clock that afternoon before an altar attractively decorated with palms, ferns and summer flowers. Nuptial music was furnished by Mrs. Joseph Jenkins, pianist, and Miss Josephine Jenkins, soloist.

The bride, who is the daughter of Mrs. Myrtle Adams of New Castle, was attired in a white net gown, and her fingertip veil was held in place by a spray of flowers. She carried a white Bible with streamers of flowers attached.

Attended By Sister.

Miss Olive Adams was her sister's only attendant, and she wore a blue net gown with an arm bouquet of blue delphiniums. Mr. Constance, who is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Constance, 282 West Third street, chose his brother, Edward, to be his best man, and the bride's brother, Robert, gave her in marriage.

Preceding the ceremony, a wedding dinner was held in the Adams' home, when Mrs. Adams was assisted by her daughters, Mrs. Wilma Owens, Mrs. Roy Baldwin, Mrs. George Files and Mrs. Roberts. After the service, a reception was held at the home of the bride's mother, and a five-tiered wedding cake decorated the refreshment table.

Visiting Here.

Mr. Constance and his bride are visiting here at the home of his parents for a few days, and on Friday, they will leave for Indio, Cal., where they will engage in church work and foreign missionary service under the Christian Alliance board.

Mrs. Constance, who attended the New Castle public schools, is a graduate of the Missionary Training Insutute of Nyack, New York. Since her graduation, she has been engaged in pioneer missionary work in East Lumberton, N. C. Mr. Constance is a graduate of the Lexington high school and of the Missionary Training Institute. He has been serving as a minister of the Gospel in Glendale, Calif.

Mansfielders, who attended the wedding, included: the bridegroom's parents, his brother, Edward, and his sister, Miss Martha Constance, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Bogner and Miss Bonnie DeYarmon.

Quiet Ceremony Read For Couple At Home Monday

Miss Olivia Allen of Hamilton became the bride of James Sams, 109 Touby avenue, in a quiet ceremony yesterday evening at the home of Miss Marie Frederick, 119 East Temple court. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Allen of Pittsburgh, Ky.

Rev. B. F. Hagelbarger, pastor of the First Christian church, performed the ceremony in the home, which was decorated with bouquets of summer flowers.

The bride was attired in a white floor-length gown, and her veil extended to her waist. She carried a bouquet of gardenias. Miss Jeanette Rogers of Hamilton served as a bridesmaid, wearing a pale peach formal gown and carryng a bouquet of Talisman roses. Miss Frederick was the other attendant, and her dress was of deeper peach chiffon. She also carried Talisman roses.

John Miller was the best man, while Ben Parker of Hamilton and James Dewberry were the ushers. Following the ceremony, supper was served to some 30 guests in attendance.

Mr. and Mrs. Sams left today for a short wedding trip. For traveling, the bride wore a wine ensemble with white accessories. Upon returning to this city, Mr. and Mrs. Sams will live at the Touby avenue address. The bride is a graduate of Cumberland college in Maryland, and Mr. Sams is affiliated with the Railway Express agency here.

Mrs. Jack Berlo Feted With Shower

Mrs. Gordon Watson entertained with a personal shower for Mrs. Jack Berlo yesterday evening at her home, 233 Walter avenue. Mrs. Harry Berlo assisted her daughter in giving the party.

The 19 guests played games and contests during the evening, with prizes going to Mrs. W. W. Singer, Mrs. W. C. Boling, Mrs. Robert Boling and the guest of honor. At a late hour, buffet luncheon was served at a table decorated with a floral centerpiece and pink and blue tapers.

At a recent party given by Mrs. Thomas Casey the marriage of her daughter, the former Helen Louise Casey, above, to Robert Jordan, Loudonville, was announced. The couple was married Nov. 22, 1939, at the Trinity Evangelical church in Loudonville. The couple are now at home in the neighboring community.

Betty Heck, Lester Berger Announce Date Of Nuptials

MISS BETTY HECK and Lester Berger have chosen the 30th wedding anniversary of the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. E. Berger, as the date for their marriage. The ceremony will be solemnized this Saturday morning before the altar of St. Matthew's Lutheran church, with Rev. C. F. Sheriff officiating.

The bride-elect, who resides with Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Berger, 244 Bartley avenue, is the niece of Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Heck of Cleveland. She is employed at the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing company.

Mr. Berger, who lives with his parents at 288 Harker street, is a graduate of Mansfield Senior high school. He also is an employe of the Westinghouse company.

Twelve close friends of the couple learned of the approaching nuptials at a party given by Mr. Berger's brother and sister-in-law at their home on Bartley avenue last Saturday evening. The affair was a pantry shelf shower, and hearts were the evening's diversion. Mrs. William C. Hauck, jr., and Russell Bolesky were recipients of the high score awards, and a buffet luncheon was served at the close of the evening.

BIRTHDAY PARTY.

Mrs. Roy Beck, Park avenue west road, entertained Saturday afternoon at her home in honor of the eighth birthday anniversary of her son, Corliss. Twelve boys were in attendance and enjoyed an afternoon of games and contests. Prizes were won by Clifford Knarr and Leonard Woerth. At the close of the afternoon a hamburg fry was held. His friends presented Corliss with many gifts in honor of the occasion.

BUCYRUS TOLD OF APPROACHING MARRIAGE OF MISS JUNE BAKER

BUCYRUS — A September wedding was announced Saturday when Mrs. O. B. Baker and her daughter, Mrs. M. T. Moreland of Columbus, invited a small group of friends and relatives for the afternoon and dinner hours, to tell of the approaching nuptials of Miss June Baker of Columbus and E. Reed Lang, son of Mrs. Edna Lang of Sioux Falls, S. D. The wedding date was revealed as Sept. 7, and the wedding will take place in the Baker home.

The bride-elect, who is a graduate of Bucyrus high school, has been associated with the Chemical Abstracts office at Ohio State university. Mr. Lang is a graduate of the South Dakota School of Mines and will receive his Ph. D. in chemistry from Ohio State in December.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Laughbaum, whose marriage was an event of Sunday afternoon at Epworth Methodist church, have left on a southern honeymoon. They will be at home at 514 Woodlawn avenue upon their return.

The bride, who was the former Marcella Love, is the daughter of Mrs. Jennie Love and the late Jack Love. Mr. Laughbaum is the son of Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Laughbaum, 1217 East Southern avenue.

The bride is employed in her mother's restaurant in Bucyrus. Mr. Laughbaum is associated with the Gahon Music store. Both are graduates of Bucyrus high school.

Recent Bride Honored With Evening Party

Mrs. Wilmer Gross entertained for the pleasure of her daughter-in-law, Mrs. William W. Gross, yesterday evening at the Susie Janis home on the Park avenue west road. The honoree was Miss Catherine Young before her marriage at the First Lutheran church on July 29.

The 25 guests played bridge and hearts during the evening, and score prizes were awarded to Mrs. Richard Young and Miss Gerry Young. The hostess presented the recent bride with a gift of silver in honor of the occasion.

When luncheon was served at the close of the games, the guests were seated at a U-shaped table. Large flat colonial bouquets of summer flowers decorated the long table, while the end one had a miniature altar banked with palms and ferns and lighted with candelabra, with a miniature bride standing before it. Mrs. Earl Herrick is planning to give a shower for Mrs. Gross next Monday evening.

ISSUE PROGRAMS FOR CLUB YEAR

Mansfield Sorosis Books Disclose Study of the Dutch as Leading Topic for Meetings to Begin In October.

ALTHOUGH their club year won't start until Oct. 1, members of the Mansfield Sorosis have already received their programs for the coming months. Mrs. Leroy McGinty, Miss Anna Proctor, Miss Ruth Culbertson, Mrs. P. B. Pecht and Miss Bertha Patterson are members of the program committee, and the new year books show evidence of careful and thoughtful planning.

At the opening meeting, for which Miss Proctor will be the hostess, the roll call will be answered with summer memories. Mrs. C. A. McClure will have the program at that time on "History and Geography of the Netherlands." On Oct. 15, Mrs. Fred Troll will discuss Dutch music, and Mrs. H. D. Bishop will tell the story of New Amsterdam. Mrs. W. E. Wygant will be the hostess for this evening meeting. At the final meeting of the month with Mrs. W. R. King, Mrs. Ambrose Middleton, Mrs. John Angle and Mrs. O. G. Place will have a program on Washington Irving, the "Legend of Sleepy Hollow" and "Rip Van Winkle."

Review Books.

Mrs. F. M. Remy will present a paper on "Doctor Hudson's Secret Journal" at the Nov. 12 meeting, when Miss Culbertson will review the new books, and Mrs. A. E. Courtney will serve as hostess. The program of Nov. 26 will be devoted to the discussion of Dutch homes and markets led by Mrs. George Ganyard and Mrs. C. L. Allen, while the Misses Bertha and Sophie Ruess will be hostesses.

Miss Grace Courtney will be in charge of the early December meeting on the 10th, when Mrs. Earle Paxton and Mrs. Carl Heim will have a program on famous Dutch women. A Christmas party is scheduled for the evening of Dec. 17, with Mrs. Milo W. Hieber, Mrs. H. D. Bishop, Mrs. Allen, Mrs. Paxton, Miss Mollie Rhodes and Mrs. Ganyard assisting the hostess, Mrs. W. W. Purdy.

February Party.

For the first meeting of the new year on Jan. 7, Mrs. Edward Gibson will have a musical program, and Mrs. W. H. Gifford will discuss Dutch art. Miss Patterson will be the evening's hostess. Miss Sophie Ruess will speak on Dutch religion at the meeting of Jan. 21 with Mrs. Middleton, and on Feb. 4, Mrs. Wygant's topic will be "Goodly Fellowship." Mrs. Gifford will be the hostess that day. Mrs. McClure, Mrs. H. L. Creveling, Mrs. William Dice, Mrs. Lawrence Grabler, Mrs. Wygant, Miss Fatterson and Miss Courtney are planning a Washington's birthday party on Feb. 22, with Mrs. Bloor as the hostess.

The program of March 4 will be in charge of Mrs. Lowell Bourns and Mrs. Hieber, and Mrs. S. D. Hoover will be the hostess. "Life With Father" will be reviewed by Mrs. W. J. Bishop at the March 18 meeting, with Mrs. Place in charge, and Mrs. Hoover serving on the program.

The club members will spend an afternoon with the poets on April 1 through the guidance of Miss Bertha Ruess, when Mrs. Creveling will be the hostess. The final meeting of the club year will be a spring party on April 15 with the Junior Sorosis members as guests. The program committee will be in charge, and Mrs. Pecht will have the sealed program.

Regular federation meetings are scheduled to be held on Oct. 4, Jan. 3 and April 8. Officers of Sorosis this year include: Mrs. King, president; Mrs. Wygant, vice president; Mrs. W. J. Bishop, secretary and Miss Courtney, treasurer.

Pure Soap Aids Clear Complexion For All Women

The glamorous screen star, the debutante, and the girl who works for a living all follow the same path in their quest for beauty. They start with the skin. If that is clean and clear and healthy they have the perfect foundation for their favorite complexion make-up.

One of the causes of complexion troubles is piling on layer upon layer of cosmetics without preliminary soap and water washing and without thoroughly washing off old make-up before new make-up is applied. In winter particularly, pores very quickly become clogged. Soon, the complexion begins to look dingy, and if the practice is continued, blotches and eruptions are almost inevitable.

The literal and figurative base of complexion beauty is thorough soap and water washing and drying with clean towels. Unless the skin is clean and clear and healthy, there's no magic in the make-up kit.

Teach Simple Numbers

By Garry C. MYERS, Ph. D.

We parents or teachers "strain at a gnat and swallow a camel." We are always looking for something hard to understand or do. The simple we despise oft-times. We're like the good woman who, after hearing a lecture said of it, "I don't like it at all. I could understand every bit of it."

It's the simplest things I try to expound in this column that, I fear, are least considered by many of my readers. This applies particularly to arithmetic.

Just as sure as I am that the top of my head is smooth, so sure I am that the most troublesome items in arithmetic for the average child are the simple addition and subtraction facts (as 9 and 6 are 15; 3 from 11 are 8,) and there are only 100 of each. I will send you a copy of them if you will write me at 235 East 45th Street, New York City, enclosing a self-addressed envelope with a three-cent stamp. Of course, you might easily write them down yourself

Trouble All Ages

These simple facts are troubling not only children in the second or third grade but also children in the upper grades, youths in high school and college, even adults.

These simple number facts, not having been completely mastered at the age of 10, 16 or 22, cause the pupil and student to do hundreds of complicated problems wrong in arithmetic, higher mathematics or physics and also cause hundreds more to seem very slow. Yet almost any youth could learn them all by heart in a few evenings! And then have them all the rest of his life!

Why have so many failed to learn these simple facts? Chiefly because they are so simple.

There's a further explanation. In their earlier years at school they were taught, under the guise of reason, to count them, first using objects, then imagined objects, thinking, for example, as they added 5 and 8, "6, 7, 8, 9, 10, 11, 12, 13." They have, as a rule, continued to do this; many to do it the rest of their lives. Imagine the high school student doing this as he adds or subtracts in trigonometry; the college student doing it with a problem in physics or astronomy; or yourself as you check your grocery bill.

No matter how long you practice on this you can't do much better at it. Nor can you ever do it very fast.

Never Mind Speed.

But every child at school is crowded at times — some with barbarous daily drills at adding or subtracting with a watch held over them. Under the pressure, what does he do? He takes a chance; he guesses, often wrong, practicing on the wrongs as well as the rights, rarely or never attaining a high degree of accuracy. Neither does he get much speed, as a rule, since the errors slow him up.

Here is something any parent can do to help a child at any age who has trouble with these simple number facts. Without haste or rebuke, find out just which of these number facts the child knows by heart or does not know, which he knows without counting and which he must count out. Then induce him to memorize, without error, those he does not know, attacking only a few at a sitting. But this is so simple that most parents will ignore it; and most teachers will. Some just won't like it because they can understand it. I'm afraid.

Solving Parent Problems.

Q. My four-year-old boy after going to bed finds all sorts of ways to call me back to him over a period of an hour or more—every night.

A. As you help him prepare for bed tonight, announce clearly to him that once you leave you are not coming back. Then prove your word is good and act as if you are deaf, no matter how long he calls to you. In order for this to work he must also know that he must not get out of bed to come to you. Better not attack this problem until you have trained him by day in the strict meaning of NO.

New York office workers' fad for carbonated beverage between meals is healthful. Scientists say intervals between eating in American life are too long for highest efficiency.

Marriage Meddlers

By ADELE GARRISON

Continuation of "Married Comrades"

"I SUPPOSE you mean," I said slowly, "that in her present nervous state, Edith isn't going to fit in very well with a lot of other people in this room. She needs to be alone or with a nurse."

"Exactly," Lillian assented. "Yet how it's to be managed, I don't know."

"Why couldn't we put her and Miss Whitlock into my little study?" I asked. "They'd be comfortable there, and be away from everybody else."

"That's the only logical place, of course," she said, "but have you figured that leaving them alone there entails having in this room, 'vun gveen' "—she imitated Katie with a grim little smile—"vun princess, vun mudder-in-law, vun ba-bee, two keeds, vun nurse, vun Ma-ree, und vun Katie, to say nuddings of me und you."

"I know," I said thoughtfully.

"You know how your mother-in-law hates Edith Fairfax," she went on—"to do her justice, mostly on your account, and you also know how great is the old girl's reverence for Queen Olga—I think her opinion of princesses has gone down discernibly since Olina has been sharpening her claws on Mary, but she's sure to raise ructions especially if we have Katie in here with us. And Katrina, while the sagest and sanest person anywhere, is going to have her own troubles regimenting two boys and a toddling girl in a situation where all rules must go by the board. And as for Katie!—there just ain't no words to fit her!"

"It's lucky there aren't," I told her when I could stop laughing. "I was just about to close your mouth forcibly when you finally decided to sign off yourself. And I can assure you on one point. I can manage Mother Graham. Have you thought of a good place to put her?"

"One of the alcoves, the smaller one," she said. "We can bring down her couch—she takes all her naps on it anyway, so it won't hurt her to sleep on it nights, and she can reverse her processes, and take her naps on her bed upstairs in the daytime. I suppose you're counting on her love of melodrama to make her content with this cock-eyed arrangement."

"Partly," I said, "but not wholly."

She looked at me with a gamin grin.

"Something stirring in the little brain cells?" she gibed. "Well, keep your secrets. But, do you approve of the alcove for your doughty mother-in-law?"

"Decidedly," I said. "But—what do you think of giving her the larger alcove, and putting Faith's crib in it. Faith sleeps straight through the night, so Katharine won't have to go in there."

"And Grandma Graham will believe that her grandchild has been turned over to her care! That's a positive stroke of genius! Machiavelli Madgie! That's going to be your name from now on."

"If you ever dare," I threatened "But tell me how you've planned the room."

"Your amendment is better," she said. "I had thought of giving our royal guests the big alcove, and Mother Graham the smaller one. Shall we reverse?"

Her tone was doubtful, and my reply was prompt.

"I'm afraid it would be too small for Olga and Olina. And the boys are big enough where they need a private dressing place. If they have that alcove, I can curtain it off, and they'll be out of the way."

"Genius again!" she commented. "And I suppose after that pirate ship, good cots down here won't be much hardship to Olga and Olina."

"Even if they are, I'm afraid I can't make special arrangements for them," I said. "And to do them justice, I don't believe they would consent to have them. We can put them in a corner of the room and I'll provide them with a couple of big screens. As for the rest of us, Katherine, Mary, you and I—and ah! yes Katie—we'll be like a hospital ward or an orphan asylum girls' dormitory with cots down the middle of the floor."

Cosmetics Improve on Nature

By MME. QUI VIVE

When a woman takes her head out of a shampoo bowl, and gazes upon that dripping horror of herself that is reflected in the mirror, she thanks heaven and providence that she doesn't have to stay as nature made her. Blessed be cosmetics. Hooray for the permanent wave. Glory be to the lipstick, the rosy synthetic blush, the fragrant calcimine that comes out of the powder box. Without them life would be a dreary waste. They're props for the soul and they boost morale.

Fancy these dear dead days when beautifying was considered sinful, when it was believed that cosmetics would ruin the complexion. Silly. Complexions are improving every year. Can't you hear the echo of prehistoric yodeling about "natural" beauty? All right, if you have it, but what if nature has short changed you?

If Mary Jane had been cursed with an incipient moustache or had witch bristles on her chin she was supposed to bear her affliction with saintlike resignation. Now Mary hustles herself to the electrolysis operator and has the pests electrocuted. When Mary gets older she may have a facelift, which has become respectable. She'll talk about it as casually as she will tell you about her visit to the dentist's office. Why not?

* * *

Grandma's grandma didn't dare to even powder her nose. The modern grandma has a cute bob, tints her lips with cherry cream, touches her eyelids with rouge, has her own latch key and comes home at all hours. A much pleasanter life than being a sit-by-the-fire and waiting to die.

We seek corrective measures for our beauty ills because good appearance makes for happier lives. If every woman had a strawberry and vanilla complexion, if every figure conformed to standard weights and measurements, if waists and ankles were slender, hair thick, lustrous and glittering, maybe we wouldn't be elbowing our way through crowds at the doors of beauty shops. But those things just aren't so. Some of us are seconds, like stockings you get on bargain counters. So isn't it grand we know what to do about it?

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

By Shepard Barclay

"The Authority on Authorities"

There is only one stock exception to the rule of common sense which favors a major suit contract over No Trump when there are four cards of the suit in each partner's hand. That is when both of them have exactly balanced distribution, with three cards in every other suit. There is then no chance to ruff out losers or set up a side suit to obtain discards, and therefore the same number of tricks should be produced at No Trump, in case all suits are stopped often enough. With any other distribution the major suit will produce ordinarily at least one more trick, sometimes several more.

South never should have mentioned No Trumps, after his partner raised his spades, unless he feared North was one of those people who still think three cards headed by an honor make adequate support. After he bid that, however, North should have realized South probably doubted he had four cards of the suit, and should have taken out to 4-Spades, but he didn't.

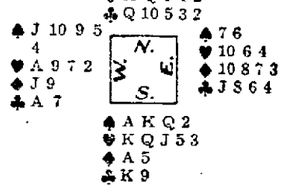
West led the diamond 4 to the A and East returned the 9 to the J and Q. When West now led the 2—a card lower than his fourth-best original opening — East knew he had five in the suit and declarer three. South having shown five hearts and four spades. East now knew the declarer had a singleton in clubs South won that third diamond with a K, took in the two heart tops and led a third to the J, being chagrined that the suit was not evenly divided. Another heart and the club A set the contract, whereas 4-Spades would have been a sure thing against any defense.

* * *

Tomorrow's Problem.



(Dealer: East. East-West vulnerable.)

After South bid 1-Heart and North 2-Diamonds, why should South now bid only 2-Spades, with his powerful hand, instead of 3-Spades.

Tasty Way To Prepare Ham Slice

By BETSY NEWMAN

IT IS always extravagant to buy a slice of smoked ham. Why not buy a good-sized butt end and have the butcher cut a thick slice off for the baked ham sliced, then bake or boil the rest? You can surely use it these days when picnics are so frequent.

Today's Menu.

Spiced Baked Sliced Ham
Scalloped Potatoes
Corn Pudding Sliced Tomatoes
Peppermint Stick Parfait
Iced Tea

* * *

Spiced Baked Sliced Ham.

Slice of ham 1½ to 2 inches thick
¼ cup brown sugar
25 whole cloves

Sprinkle ½ sugar over ham, insert cloves into ham and bake for 2 hours at 300 degrees Fahrenheit, basting frequently with liquid in pan. You may use either dry or prepared mustard, whichever you prefer.

* * *

Scalloped Potatoes.

Potatoes
Milk
Butter
Salt, pepper
Pimento, if liked

Peel enough potatoes for people to be served, slice thin into buttered baking dish or casserole. Season with salt and pepper and mix small pieces of canned pimento through potatoes if you wish. Scald milk enough to fill pan even with potatoes, melting 1 or 2 tablespoons butter in scalded milk. Pour milk over potatoes, top all with bread crumbs, cracker crumbs or crumbled corn flakes, and bake for ¾ for an hour.

* * *

Peppermint Stick Parfait.

½ cup sugar
½ cup water
2 egg whites
1⅓ cups evaporated milk
Pinch salt
½ cup peppermint stick candy

Bring sugar and water slowly to boil, boil rapidly until syrup spins a long thread. Add salt to egg whites and beat until stiff but not dry, pour syrup into egg white, stirring constantly. Chill Whip milk (or cream if preferred) very stiff and fold in egg white mixture and candy. Pour at once into cold freezing trays. This makes 3 pints.

An occasional sunning will help a mattress retain its freshness.

HOROSCOPE

For Wednesday, Aug. 7.

A moderately successful day, with certain rather surprising developments probably in connection with contracts, litigation insurance or bequests. And yet there are possibilities of loss, reverses, extravagance or heavy expenditures. Be practical about this, or the benefits may ooze through the fingers. Also safeguard the health and that of the family, especially elderly females. Do not run counter to elders or superiors. Use discretion or diplomacy.

Those whose birthday it is may anticipate a rather successful year, with the interests centered on new contracts, insurance or probable bequests. Handle such with conservatism and wise judgment, lest the good fortune slip away through extravagance or self-indulgence. Use finesse when dealing with superiors or elders and safeguard the welfare of the latter.

A child born on this day should be endowed with many social graces and talents, being artistic, idealistic, congenial and affable, but pleasure-loving.

LUCKY FOR LOVE

By JANE DIXON

(Copyright 1940)

CHAPTER X

After supper Marilyn called her mother and father into the living-room. She handed her father the letter from Clarco.

"Read it, Dad," she said. "Read it aloud."

Marilyn does not remember much of the scene that followed except that her mother was tearful, her father monosyllabic and firmer than she had ever known him to be.

"I'm proud of you, daughter," he said in his quiet way. It's your chance. Don't let it slip past you. Don't wait until it's too late. Take it, daughter, take it. Go to New York."

"Thank you, Dad," said Marilyn, realizing for the first time how deep was her love, her pity for her father. "I will. I'll go, and I'll make you and Mums really proud of me."

"When would you be going, Baby?" Mrs. Marsh asked. Tears dried in her eyes but they were still falling in her heart.

"As soon as ever I can," Marilyn said, with a show of eagerness. "Clara will be staying only a few days longer so I'll have to hurry. I can leave tomorrow, be there the next morning. I'll take a change of clothes. That will be enough. If I decide to take the position with Clarco, you can pack my things, Mums, and send them on to me. I'll leave her a list of what I'll need, in case I decide to stay. Tomorrow morning early I'll run down to the Bon Ton and explain everything to the manager. We won't tell another soul, except Sally Mecham. Let's make it a surprise for the folks in Millville."

* * *

At three in the morning, Marilyn placed the list she was to leave for her mother on the painted dresser worn blue relic of her girlhood. Her suitcase was packed. She had set the house of her youth in order. Tomorrow she would leave it no longer a nestling. She would begin building a new house, the dwelling place of her womanhood.

She was astir. A wire to Al Martino: "Arrive New York eleven a. m. tomorrow (Sunday) Penn Station. Thanks again. Marilyn Marsh."

The Bon Ton manager was reluctant to have her leave the store, though honestly pleased that she should meet with so rare an opportunity.

Only her mother, father, Bill and Sally Meacham were at the station to see her off. She tried, with fair success, to make her departure appear a gay adventure.

"Keep on being lucky, Lynn," Sally called through the window of the car. "If they need extra help at Clarco, like an odd scrubwoman or a wastebasket emptier, tell 'em about your old pal Sally."

The little group on the platform was a blur as Marilyn's train pulled away from the station.

The trip from Millville to New York, actually a fourteen-hour journey, was, to Marilyn, timeless — like a ribbon of film unwinding, without beginning and without end. Farmers in fields, cattle on hillsides, streams winding between the hills, automobiles crawling like giant beetles along roads. Villages, towns, cities. And always, as the train roared eastward, the volume of life increasing. More villages, towns, cities. More crawling beetles. More factories, mills, houses. Smaller yards backing up to the tracks. Smaller fields. Tractors in the fields. Vivid striped awning-decked chairs on farmhouse porches. Busses stopping at country crossroads to pick up girls in sport dresses and topless shoes. Boys turning out of lanes in sport cars.

* * *

Change. Change had come into the shabby gray house with the green shutters. Swift shattering changes. As long as Marilyn could remember, day had succeeded day, night had come and gone, existence drifted by without event to mark its passing. Eggs and bacon, meat and potatoes, hominy grits and gravy. It was Sunday when one put on one's best dress, went to Sunday school, ate roast chicken and devil's food cake at half past instead of twelve o'clock. Tag at recess, high-school graduation, dances at Lake-side pavilion and in Lodge Hall. Puppy loves that died aborning. Bon Ton book department. "No sir, we don't carry many classics but we will be glad to order them for you. Calls mostly are for fiction, modern fiction. Roger's Thesaurus? No. I'm sorry. There's one at the library if you'd care to go there. You're very welcome. Call again please."

People in the train coach were moving about now, putting on their hats, gathering their paraphenalia of travel. Marilyn did likewise, as one in a trance. The end of the journey! No, the beginning of the journey. Trains merely carried people to what they had to do.

"New York, New Y-O-R-K!"

Her bag? Oh yes, the porter had carried to the coach platform. What if Al was not waiting for her? What if he was out of town, busy, did not get her wire? How would she go about getting to the hotel where Clara was staying? What if Clara had left for home?

* * *

The line of passengers moved along the aisles. Now she was on the platform. People crowded the long concrete runway, hurrying, scurrying. Down the steps into the scurry. Some one caught her arm.

"Hi, H. B! Is this you or am I a dreamer? Say something quick! I'm afraid to bat my eyes for fear you'll do a fade-out."

"Al, you nice fool. Stop acting so silly. People will think we're crazy."

"The heck they will. They're too busy being crazy themselves to bother about us. Let me get your bag. You say which. Here, Red Cap, taxi. Eighth avenue side. Now then, my good woman, let me get a look at you. Hmmm. Tender. How's it for breakfast?"

"Slow up, Al, please. We can have another time. I had breakfast on the train. Is it far to Clara's hotel? Let's go straight there. We can talk on the way. Al, you're a dear to meet me. Probably the middle of the night, too, for you."

"Middle of the night, nix. I beat your train into the station by an hour. Sat up all night thinking of bright things to say to you as you stepped off into my arms, and I'll be a monkey's uncle if I didn't muff every one of them the minute you hove in sight."

"You did very well for one unused to public speaking," Al was fun. "Whoa! You're racing again. I never knew you to walk so fast. In Millville you had all the speed of a turtle."

"That was my role. Big Eyes. Bored city chap. Fed up with it all. Here we are. Climb in. Driver —"he mentioned a hotel facing Central park —" and don't spare the horses. Comfy, Duchess? We can take our eats in the open up there. Lots of good air and swell coffee."

"Al, don't think I'm ungrateful but if you don't mind I'd rather go straight to Clara's hotel. You can drop me there, then go for coffee."

"Sorry lady. No can do. I'm not yet convinced you're real. There's another little matter. I want to give you the latest reports from the scene of conflict, and take it from an old conflicter, H. B., this is a doberino. You see before you a bruised and battered man. Amazons, my dear. Amazons. Only one Amazon, but she's as good as regiments. I've done everything but crack that gal Clara over the head with a bottle, but somehow she fails to appreciate my interest. What ho! Here we are. Your hand, Duchess!"

* * *

At a table overlooking the park, Al continued his story.

"Did you woo Blondie you were coming?" he asked.

"No. I thought it better to—surprise her," Marilyn said.

"Won't she be pleased. Especially after that magnum she jammed last night."

"Magnum? I don't know what you mean."

"Skip it. You'll learn all too well if you flock around with Blondie. I have a deep-seated conviction Little One, that your fair sister would rather not entertain visitors from home right now. She's not in the mood. She's taken a potion the old home town is full of plugs and poison ivy. My suggestion is that you stop right here out of the zone of fire. Her hotel is just around the corner. That way you can drop in on each other for friendly little visits.

CENTRAL OHIO CIO LODGES TO FROLIC AUG. 24

Mansfield, Galion, Mt. Vernon And Marion Workers Unite For Picnic at Park.

Plans for the second annual picnic of central Ohio lodges affiliated with the Congress of Industrial Organization to be held Aug. 24 at Seccaium park near Bucyrus were disclosed today.

The announcement was made by Harry Boyer of Delano lodge, Empire Sheet and Tin Plate union, general chairman of the picnic committee.

Boyer said that several thousand workers would attend the affair from Mansfield, Marion, Galion and Mt. Vernon.

Participating lodges are Delano lodge of Mansfield, Marion Steam Shovel and Alloy Cast Steel company lodges of Marion; Ohio Timken Roller Bearing lodge, Mt. Vernon, and Stratsbury Clothing workers of Galion.

Headlining a program of athletic events will be a ball game between the Marion Steam Shovel and Mt. Vernon lodge teams.

There will be free dancing for the workers during the afternoon after which a floor show featuring amateur talent will be staged.

The affair will be climaxed with an amateur boxing show including six bouts. The card will include two six-round matches, two four-round bouts and two three-round events.

Boyer said the committee had arranged for free bus service to members of Delano lodge and their families to and from the park.

NEW VITAMIN

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark.—(U.P.)—Discovery of a new vitamin, M, affecting the number of red and white cells in the blood, has been announced by Dr. Paul L. Day of the University of Arkansas. Liver is the chief source of the vitamin, according to Dr. Day, who is now studying other meats as possible sources.

WITHOUT FLAGPOLE

SALEM, Ore. —(U.P.)— The new state capitol is still unable to observe flag day properly. Although the building was completed two years ago, it has been impossible, despite several efforts, to get an appropriation for a flag pole.

Ohio Valley Becomes Giant 'Lab' to Study Pollution

CINCINNATI—(U.P.)—A score of state and federal agencies spread through the Ohio valley from the upper reaches of the Allegheny to headwaters of the Tennessee and Cumberland rivers are driving toward a Jan. 1 deadline for completion of their study of stream pollution—its causes, economic effects, and its cure.

With a laboratory of 203,900 square miles to work in, trained bacteriologists and sanitary engineers are ranging from Salamanca N. Y., to Guntersville, Ala., in search of the little "bugs" that spread typhoid fever and other diseases, the acids that kill fish, and the industrial wastes that turn river bottoms into miasmas in summer time.

The survey is the first of its kind and scale in the world. Scattered attempts have been made to clean up isolated streams from time to time, but until this project was authorized in 1938 no nation had tackled the whole of a major watershed.

Equipment in addition to permanent laboratory facilities here, includes a floating laboratory — the kiski, a remodeled quarterboat donated by the army engineers and now moored near Marietta, O., six mobile laboratories installed in automobile trailers and a cabin cruiser and speedboat.

Officials emphasized that little pure research was involved in the work, since most of the polluting agents are known. The problem is to find where they come from and in what volume, and what can be done about them without disturbing the economic structure built up around any one stream.

For instance, it was explained, the government is not going to prosecute a firm whose factory dumps wastes into a river. It is going to work with the officials to determine if the wastes are harmful and if their effect can be eliminated or neutralized by treatment.

A major aim of the work is to point out to all interests the dollars and cents savings to be had through cleaning up the rivers, as well as the elimination of health menaces.

THEATERS

Eddie Cantor as Professor.

The story of "Forty Little Mothers" brings Eddie Cantor back to the screen in his first picture in some time. The comedian plays an earnest, rather timid professor in a role of deep human interest. The comedy emanates from hundreds of pranks played on the professor by the boarding-school girls he teaches. The central love interest is in the great affection the lonely man develops for a foundling baby. This film and "South to Karanga" will be at the Madison Wednesday.

* * *

Dynamic Underworld Lawyer.

For the dynamic role of the underworld mouthpiece in "The Man who Talked Too Much," which opens Wednesday at the Ohio, the studio chose George Brent. Virginia Bruce plays opposite Brent in this drama dealing with a suave young lawyer who takes the easiest way of making money only to learn that the honor and love of a beautiful woman are infinitely more important.

* * *

Dual Role In Western.

Chester Morris adds another feather to his cap by his characterization of twin brothers, one of them honorable and upright and the other a fanatical, hate-driven enemy of society in the film "Wagons Westward" which is showing at the Park. The co-feature is "The Crooked Road," with Edmund Lowe and Irene Hervey in the leading roles.

* * *

Technicolor Film.

Zane Grey's story "The Light of the Western Stars," showing at the Ritz is one about a man who sets out to become an outlaw, but is stopped by a girl who falls in love with him after being forced to marry him. Jo Ann Sayers and Victor Jory play the leads. The second attraction is the Shirley Temple picture "The Bluebird" in technicolor.

MEETINGS OFF

Discontinuance of meetings of the Friendly House board of managers until fall was announced today by Russell Gimbel, settlement director.

According to Gimble there will be no meetings of the board during August and September. The next regular meeting of this group will be held Oct. 10, Gimbel said.

RCUT MOVIE SET

ELKO, Nev. —(U.P.)— A movie company, here to film shots for "Brigham Young," was ousted by a horde of Mormon crickets. The movie lot was invaded by a band of crickets three and one-half miles long. Mary Astor fainted on location and after a two days' effort to continue, the entire company left.

SLIDE FILM
